BRITISH STRIKERS TO RESUME WORK

miners unbroken. Their refusal to negotiate on the basis of Sir Herbert Samuel's formula Tuesday night was maintained Wednesday. The miners and the Trades Union council are completely split and the national delegates at the miners' conference which will be held Friday, will make the final decision as to whether or not the coal strike is to continue. Samuel's formula—which is in effect the suggestion made in the report of the royal coal commission, of which Samuel is chairman—calls for continuance of the government subsidy for a time with the understanding that miners will accept slightly lower wages after the temporary subsidy expires.

News Widely Cheered. London was the scene of uproarious delight when announcement that the strike was ended reached the people. Women wept for joy on the Strand, which is London's Broadway, and among the crowd of dancing men the strikers were the most enthusiastic of all.

"The war is over," shouted the crowds as they grabbed up copies of mineographed newspapers which told of last-minute developments of the strike's end was made. London forgot that it had work to do and the scenes near Hyde park and the spot where the greatest crowds gathered were comparable only to November 11, 1918, when news of the end of the great war was received.

London's joy at the news was reflected in all parts of England. Reports from Edinburgh said that even the exceptionally grave Scotchmen gave way to general rejoicing. In the London stock exchange a quick response to the good news was seen on the action of important offerings.

Events moved swiftly toward settlement of the strike following disagreement between miners and the unionists at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. When the miners refused to accept the suggested peace included in Samuel's formula the trade unionists decided to defer final action until morning.

Decision to act without the miners came shortly after the trade unionists reassembled Wednesday morning. They first sent a deputation to inform the miners that the trade unionists were ready to end the strike, but the miners' representatives refused to be moved.

Immediately upon the return of the deputation to trade unionist headquarters in Euston street another call was put in for 10 Downing street where Premier Stanley Baldwin and other government leaders were waiting.

It was a dramatic moment at the premier's official residence when the T. U. C. deputation, led by A. B. Pugh, its chairman, entered the presence of Baldwin and his associates. Baldwin spoke abruptly:

"Mr. Pugh, will you be good enough to make a statement?"

Pugh, doubtless remembering Baldwin's flat demand for an unconditional cancellation of the strike, made a halting preliminary statement wherein he said that the premier had witnessed statements promising fairness to both sides when negotiations were reopened.

"We are here, sir," he then said, "to say that the general strike is to be terminated forthwith so that negotiations may proceed. We can only hope that they will proceed in a manner which will bring a satisfactory settlement."

"I thank you for your decision," the premier replied. "I will call the cabinet immediately and will lose no time in doing my utmost to get the two sides—the owners and miners—together. I will do all I can to insure a just and lasting settlement."

Solution Formula. The formula for solution of the mines dispute as suggested by Baldwin was not mentioned at the premier's residence.

Following Pugh's announcement, Baldwin went to the house of commons, where he was greeted by a burst of cheering. He announced cancellation of the strike and told of his promise to Pugh that he would take immediate steps to bring the miners and mine owners together.

"The victory which has been won is a victory of common sense," said Baldwin, "not of the part of any section or division in the country, but on the part of the best thought of the whole country. And it is of the utmost importance that the British people at this time should look forward, not backward."

Former Labor Premier Ramsay MacDonald asked the premier for a further statement. The premier said that there remained many things to be done, but assured MacDonald that he would give out further facts later, possibly Thursday.

House Is Happy. The majority of the members of the house of commons were hilariously happy and that body proceeded to routine business. The fatigued laborites deserted the chamber leaving only the post-bearded Sidney Webb, who spoke against the proposed compulsory trade mark bill. The dignified and spatted tory members of the commons went over to the labor side and sat making faces and clapping like schoolboys while Webb spoke.

Outside the news spread slowly at first. At the trance of Downing street the police barred a crowd which had collected earlier while the trades unionists were talking to Baldwin. Finally a secretary walked out to the middle of the street and announced that an important statement might be expected momentarily and intimating that the strike was over. Waiting newspapermen representing every civilized country of the world started a breakneck race toward telephones.

As they collided bodily with the crowd in the street they said breathlessly, "it's over," and then the good news began to spread. It took an hour for the news to get around London.

WASHINGTON RELIEVED OVER SETTLEMENT. Washington, May 12.—(AP)—The news of the ending of England's general strike was received in Washington with profound satisfaction and relief.

The possibility of a complete paralysis of Britain's industrial structure with its natural reflex in the United States has caused increasing apprehension in official circles here as the strike continued. Only yesterday the white house authorized the statement that President Coolidge feared serious consequences to American foreign trade should no way be found within a reasonable time to end the tie-up of British industry.

As soon as word of the settlement gained currency the offices of the Associated Press here became the center of a telephone siege, with scores of inquiries coming from every quarter of Washington.

Not only the white house but members of the cabinet and of congress, the officers of the American Federation of Labor, at its headquarters here, and many of the country's captains of industry, who are in the capital to attend the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, sought all available information regarding the terms of settlement.

Expressions of gratification. From all these sources came expressions of gratification that the crisis had passed, but almost without exception those in responsible position refrained from comment on the merits of the settlement terms.

Secretary Hoover, of the commerce department, whose experts have kept vigil over the pulse of international trade during the period of disturbance, confined his comment to a single sentence.

"The whole world is relieved and glad that a settlement has been reached," he said.

Secretary Davis, of the labor department, declared that promptness with which the strike was brought to an end and the manner in which it was conducted, proved that the "British workers are not dominated by communistic or other radical groups."

"It is a lesson for all of us," he said, "to negotiate and adjust industrial disputes before and not after we suffer the losses and hardships of strikes and lockouts."

He added that the issues which precipitated the strike would now be negotiated at the "industrial peace table."

C. J. DANIEL DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

C. J. Daniel, 75, pioneer Georgian and well known in Atlanta business circles for nearly 50 years, died at his home, 84 West Fourteenth street, at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after a long illness.

Mr. Daniel was the son of a prominent Georgia Baptist minister and was connected by marriage with one of the leading families of the south.

He was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends who knew him as a man of winning personality, sterling character, quiet and unassuming, and devoted to his home life.

Mr. Daniel was member of the First Baptist church and took an active part in religious work. He devoted much of his life to the upbuilding of the city through service to his church and home.

Born in Milledgeville. He was born at Milledgeville, December 14, 1851, the son of the Rev. S. D. Daniel and Mrs. Catherine Clarke Daniel. As a boy he attended the public schools of Milledgeville.

Later he moved to Savannah where his father succeeded Dr. Sylvanus Landrum as pastor of the First Baptist church there.

He continued his school work in Savannah until his father took the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Albany. He then attended the then noted private school of Dr. J. S. Ingram, of Albany.

After his father's death he moved with his mother and two sisters to New York in 1867. Returning to Albany within two years he entered the mercantile business, moving to Atlanta in 1888.

About 20 years ago, Mr. Daniel suffered an injury to his head which came near proving fatal. He later recovered completely through treatment of a New York specialist. Since that time he has been engaged in several business enterprises and at the time of his death was a manufacturers' representative.

Mr. Daniel was married to Miss Cornelia Willingham, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Willingham of Albany, in 1876. His wife, who survives him, was a member of one of the most prominent families of that section.

Of that union four children were born, all of whom survive him, as follows: Thomas H., Benjamin L. and Wallace W. Daniel, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. Shine Fleetwood, of Tifton. In addition to his wife and children, Mr. Daniel is survived by a brother, Dr. William B. Daniel, of Macon, and a sister, Mrs. Sallie D. Fowler, of Plainfield, N. J.

Funeral services will be held from the home at West Fourteenth street this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The body will be sent to his former home in Albany for interment.

PROMINENT ROMAN DIES OF SHOT

Rome, Ga., May 12.—(AP)—W. H. Ebling, 62, assistant postmaster of Rome, died shortly after noon here today from what authorities believe to have been self-inflicted bullet wounds. He was a native of Ohio, and is said to have been a schoolmate of former President Harding.

Shortly after Ebling's death police ascertained that the assistant postmaster had shot himself through the head, following several months' illness. An associate in his office had stepped out of the room only a moment before he shot himself, it was said.

Ebling is survived by his wife, one son, Wilson Ebling, of East Point, Ga., and one daughter, Miss Inez Ebling, of this city. He had served as assistant postmaster here for 20 years.

NORGE NOSING WAY OUT OF POLAR WASTES

ernmost tip of Alaska, was expected to take from 50 to 60 hours.

ITALY ENTHUSED OVER NORGE SUCCESS. Rome, May 12.—(AP)—Great enthusiasm prevails in Italy over the Amundsen-Ellsworth dirigible Norge's achievement in flying across the north pole. All the newspapers devote much space to news of the event. The Impero spreading it over five full pages.

The editorial trend is one of exaltation in the Italian-Norwegian triumph. Lincoln Ellsworth, American member of the expedition, is virtually unmentioned in the newspapers, while brief articles are carried of Commander Richard E. Byrd's airplane polar flight tending to reflect doubt that he actually flew over the pole. Tribune calls to mind, in connection with the Norge's flight, that it was an Italian machine that conquered the pole, piloted by an Italian and keeping in communication with the outside world through an invention made possible by another Italian, Marconi.

The chamber of deputies has sent congratulations to the members of the expedition. It was stated that the Norwegian ministry had requested all naval vessels in northern waters to stand by to aid Captain Roald Amundsen, flying to Alaska, from the north pole in the dirigible Norge.

A message from President Coolidge, transmitted through an invention made possible by another Italian, Marconi, second in command of the Amundsen expedition, "good luck."

OTHER FLIGHTS TO POLE RECALLED. New York, May 12.—(AP)—The transition in polar exploration from hand-drawn sledges to dirigibles such as the Norge, has been a slow one. In 1818 Captain John Ross, an Englishman, set out with a hand-drawn sledged man of heavy unwieldy timber, in an unsuccessful effort to reach the north pole. He was in the Arctic regions four years. His mission was improved on in 1857 by the Explorer McClintock, who was the first person to use dogs in a trek toward the pole. But he, too, failed. Some time later Nansen introduced the light dog sled.

The first person to attempt an air passage to the north pole was Andee, who set out in a balloon in 1908. He was never heard of again. The next year Walter Wellman attempted the flight in a dirigible. His quest came to a speedy and disastrous end.

Even the intrepid Peary thought of an aerial route, but it was the light, fast, dog sled that enabled him to deposit in a glass bottle among the ice blocks of a polar pressure ridge the following record:

"90 north lat. North Pole, April 6. I, Robert E. Peary, have today hoisted the national ensign of the United States of America at this place, which my observations indicate to be the north pole axis of the earth and have formally taken possession of the entire region."

Wholesale Grocers Are "Talking Turkey" Up In Room 110

SELF SERVICE
NIFTY JIFFY
GROCERY SYSTEM

Wholesale grocers ten years ago could not be greatly blamed for smiling at the chain store as a menace to their economic life. Today the clear-thinking wholesaler will voluntarily agree that the chain store principle is fundamentally sound—such remarkable successes as the Nifty Jiffy chain have clearly demonstrated that fact.

Up in room 110 at the Biltmore many wholesalers are talking about the chains and how best to meet the acknowledged strength of their attack. They're not discussing the old ideas that have been proved valueless. They're talking over a new thought—the idea of fighting fire with fire.

These wholesalers are examining the wonderfully successful record of the Atlanta Nifty Jiffy chain of grocery stores and are learning that the Nifty Jiffy franchise gives to its owner distinct advantages over every chain-store plan now in operation.

Consequently, many wholesalers are acting and securing for themselves the right to do business under the Nifty Jiffy basic patents. In that decision they have arrived at the best and possibly the only sound plan of meeting the menace of the chain store ever devised. We can convince you of this fact in a few minutes—the evidence you'll find in Room 110.

Fidels Class Hours Interesting Reports Of Year's Activities

The regular monthly business meeting of the Fidels class of the Capital View Baptist Sunday school was held on Tuesday night in the Berean hall, the meeting being in charge of the president, Mrs. C. L. Maffett.

Reports from the various committees showed much activity in the preparation of new members, the class having 52 women present on Sunday morning, May 2, which was rally day in the Sunday school, and 72 present on May 9, Mothers' day. Much credit for this attendance was due Mrs. L. H. Castleberry, first vice president.

Discussion was had regarding the "open house" or reception to be held Sunday afternoon, May 30, from 2 to 6 o'clock at the new Capital View Baptist church. Mrs. M. H. Dameron, class teacher, gave an interesting talk on "Our Share in the 'Sacrifice Week Work,'" the first week in June, which terminates in the big cash day program on June 6.

CHRYSLER IMPERIAL

AS FINE AS MONEY CAN BUILD

A Car Literally
Without Compare

If the Chrysler Imperial "80" presented body-luxury alone, or speed alone, or incomparable riding alone, it could not lay claim to being as fine as money can build.

But it presents all of these in superlative degree, built on a chassis, and over a power plant, that could not be built finer.

The proof of the Imperial "80" super-quality is in what it does and how it does it.

Eighty miles an hour whenever you want it—with all the safety and stamina that such capacity must imply; road-comfort such as you have never experienced; ease of control and eagerness of response that are beyond description.

You can never know how much "as fine as money can build" really means until you ride in the Imperial "80" and drive it yourself.

IMMEDIATE SALE OF A. B. & A. RULED

In answer to a request of stockholders that a special master be appointed to investigate the value of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railroad, with the view of assuring a profitable return from its sale June 16, Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the federal court of this district, ruled Wednesday that immediate sale was necessary. Judge Sibley issued an order April 30 for a foreclosure and sale of the road's properties, and the date of sale has been set for June 10.

"I think the opportunity for a sale ought not be jeopardized by delay at the suggestion of stockholders only," Judge Sibley's opinion stated. "Nothing is now adjudged as to the reasonableness of any bid that may be made or any plan of reorganization that may be proposed to carry out a bid. All that is held is that a sale ought now be attempted."

In rendering this opinion, Judge Sibley pointed out that the road, under receivership operation for more than five years, is reported as owing $13,000,000, as having defaulted $400,000 in taxes, and as losing $1,000,000 under the existing conditions. After reviewing these facts, Judge Sibley concluded that the road's properties should be sold at once and an attempt made to pay its debts.

The sale ordered by Judge Sibley was in line with the plans of the Atlantic Coast Line to absorb the A. B. & A. At the hearing of the petition for foreclosure held before Judge Sibley April 30, attorneys representing minority stockholders in the line protested against foreclosure on the ground that the road is now on a money-making basis and that the price offered by the A. C. L. is far below the actual value of the road.

Judge Sibley declined to delay the foreclosure proceedings, stating that the stockholders have had five years in which to make counter proposals for the operation of the road and even now can come forward at the foreclosure sale and bid for the road in competition with the A. C. L.

"I am satisfied that this road, however skillfully managed, can hardly sustain itself by its local traffic and cannot secure enough traffic to make it permanently profitable, surrounded as it is by strong systems controlling their own business," Judge Sibley's opinion read. "This has been shown by the entire history of the road, as well as by the experience of this last receivership."

Duty to Pay Debts.

"Nevertheless, in the hands of a strong system, furnishing its traffic to it, its profitability could be greatly enhanced. The great activity of Florida and prosperity in south Georgia have been reflected in better earnings of this railroad during the past year and there has been brought forward a prospective purchaser. There are now, about $300,000 of taxes, $3,000,000 of accumulating operating deficits and some $10,000,000 of mort-

Bulging Pockets Of Negro Thief Prove Undoing

Investigation by County Policeman Tom Davis disclosed that J. B. Wright, negro employee of the White Provision company, arrested several days ago, had his trousers held up by suspenders made of linked sausage. A harness arrangement was also found beneath his shirt in which was discovered a quantity of breakfast bacon, salt side meat, and ham, alleged to have been stolen from his employer's warehouse.

According to County Policeman Davis the provision company employed 350 negroes in its warehouse and an average of two pounds of meat per day had been disappearing. An investigation was launched and the arrest of Wright followed when he was seen leaving the company's premises with his clothing bulging suspiciously. These facts were brought out Wednesday when Wright, who has been held in Fulton tower since his arrest, was arraigned before Judge Jesse M. Wood in the city criminal court where he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny from the house.

The defendant was given a nine months' suspended sentence on the charge and a severe reprimand by the judge. Other arrests will probably follow, according to county police.

The accusation charged that Wright stole 21 pounds of breakfast bacon, 19 pounds of side salt meat, eight pounds of ham and a quantity of sausage.

DYING MOTHER ASKS TO SEE YOUNG SONS

Efforts to locate the three sons of Mrs. J. W. Moss, who has been ill at Grady hospital for some time and who has been told by doctors that she has not long to live, are being made by hospital attendants and Atlanta police.

Mrs. Moss told doctors at the hospital she was separated from her husband two years ago, who was awarded custody of the three children, Terry, 12; Joe, 10; and Wesley, 6. She told police her husband would be found at 202 1/2 South Twentieth street, Birmingham, Ala., but telegrams to that address failed to get replies.

gave indebtedness, all claiming and entitled to payment.

"I think the opportunity for a sale ought not be jeopardized by delay at the suggestion of stockholders only. The manifest duty, as against their creditors, is to provide some tangible plan for satisfying the debts if they would continue to claim an interest in the corporate property."

"While the railroad property is unique and has met a special protective solicitude from the courts, the fundamental facts cannot be escaped that the rights of creditors are above those of stockholders and the court cannot refuse satisfaction to creditors because stockholders are threatened with loss."

GEORGIA BUILDING REACHES NEW HIGH

Construction contracts let during April in the state of Georgia amounted to $10,811,000, and in Atlanta to $1,871,000, according to the F. W. Dodge corporation. The figures for the state were the highest on record for any April, being 118 per cent in excess of that for April, 1925. The increase over March, 1926, was 22 per cent. In the city of Atlanta there were decreases of 39 per cent below April, 1925, and of 30 per cent below March, 1926.

During the first four months of 1926 there was $35,507,900 worth of new construction started in Georgia as compared with $19,938,300 in the corresponding period of last year, the increase being 78 per cent.

The total of contract awards for the past four months in Atlanta amounted to $10,046,500, which was a decrease of 6 per cent from the figures for the first four months of 1925. Included in the April building record for Georgia were: $3,700,300, or 34 per cent of all construction, for residential buildings; $2,707,500, or 20 per cent, for industrial buildings; $2,750,200, or 24 per cent, for public works and utilities; $500,700, or 5 per cent, for commercial buildings; $241,000, or 15 per cent, for educational buildings; and $250,000, or 2 per cent, for hospitals and institutions.

Atlanta's construction record for last month contained the following items of note: $1,129,700, or 60 per cent, for residential buildings; $281,000, or 15 per cent, for educational buildings; $250,000, or 13 per cent, for public works and utilities; $138,200, or 7 per cent, for commercial buildings; and $50,000, or 3 per cent, for social and recreational projects.

Feast of Shavuoth Will Be Observed By Atlanta Jews

On next Wednesday the feast of Shavuoth or the feast of weeks will be observed by Jews of this city as well as by their co-religionists all over the world.

The holy day begins with sunset on the eve of May 18 and special services will be held at the Temple by Rabbi David Marx at 6 o'clock that night and the following morning at 10:15 o'clock.

Like so many other religious holy days it is connected with the soil, and was celebrated as the festival of the first offering of the fruits of the land by the ancient Palestinian Hebrews. The first fruits of his land were on that day offered by the Jewish farmer on the altar of his God.

In later days it came to be celebrated as the anniversary of the giving of the law to the Jews at Mount Sinai.

It is because of these symbolic significances of the day that it was designated in modern days to be the day on which the confederates of the Jewish religious schools are admitted to their faith.

Twenty-five children will be confirmed by the Temple Religious school this year. The impressive ceremonies will be conducted by Rabbi Marx at the Temple on Wednesday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

Hardware Dealers Select New Officers and Adjourn

Election and installation of officers who will serve the Southeastern Retail Hardware and Implement Association and the four state associations of Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Tennessee, which compose the southeastern organization, were principal features Wednesday of the third and closing day of the annual convention and exhibit at the auditorium-convention.

The 1927 convention city was not named by the convention, choice being left to officers and executive committee of the Southeastern association and the presidents of the four state bodies. Invitations were received from Jacksonville, Fla.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Atlanta.

Men who will serve the associations during the year are: Southeastern association, J. B. Morton, Bessemer, Ala., president; Ed Jarman, Bartley, Ga., first vice president; H. C. Ross, Jackson, Tenn., second vice president; Walter Harlan, Atlanta, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Harlan also was reelected to the same position with each of the four state associations.

State Officers.
Alabama—John Ed Wallis, Sylacauga, president; A. T. Puffer, vice president.
Florida—O. C. Van Brunt, Tallahassee, president; H. W. Howatt, St. Augustine, vice president.
Georgia—R. A. Norris, Covington, president; A. C. Roddenberry, Cairo, vice president.
Tennessee—W. H. Leach, Somerville, president; John B. Greer, London, vice president.

The morning business session Wednesday was presided over by D. F. Hobbs, president of the Tennessee Retail Hardware and Implement association. Following the report of the nominating committee, officers of state associations and the Southeastern association, the main group of the convention, were elected and installed.

M. H. Yea, of the Dover Manufacturing company, Dover, Ohio, discussed merchandising of electrical hardware. Under this heading he insisted that it was the part of good business practice for hardware dealers to build up an electrical department and in them to handle appliances, both large and small, and miscellaneous items such as lamps, fuses, plugs, cords, etc.

Merchandising practice throughout the nation is tending more and more each year to follow the lines indicated, Mr. Yea said.

Prominent Speakers.
George M. Gray, president of the Gray Hardware company, Coshocton, Ohio, and former president of the National Retail Hardware association, spoke on "What the Hardware Retailer should accomplish in 1928." He advised methods which he believed would be effective in overcoming the which, in the past years, have infringed more and more upon the hardware business.

Chief among recommendations was that each retailer should affiliate with the national association and through submission to it of his individual problems, much could be accomplished which, for an individual, would be impossible.

Formal adjournment was taken at noon, but as attendances varied, a majority of the dealers remained over and visited the exhibits.

WARDEN AT JAIL SUMMONED BY JURY

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
(By Local Staff.) The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.

John E. Joliet, May 12.—Warden John E. Joliet, of the state prison here, a phenom for more than 35 years, will be given an opportunity to tell the whole story of his connection with the institution to the Cook and Will county grand juries now sitting in investigation of the Illinois pardons and paroles scandal.

State's Attorney Hjalmar Rehn was prepared today for a conference tomorrow night with Attorney General Carlstrom and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in Chicago, said definitely that the warden will be subpoenaed.

It is understood that Mr. Whitman is anxious to get before the grand jury in order to answer attacks that have been launched against him and his conduct of the penitentiary and its honor farm.

Meanwhile the inquiry under way proceeded along four main lines during the day. These were said to be as follows:

(1) What was the real authority at the new prison and were privileges sold to convicts?

(2) How were convicts assigned to the honor farm and what privileges were they given?

(3) In what manner was prison furniture sold and who reaped the profits of convict labor?

(4) What jurisdiction did the state department of public welfare exercise in the operation of the penal institution here?

All sorts of reports were current concerning the phase having to do with conditions at the honor farm. One of the reports was that convicts were known to have left the farm on trips to Chicago where they committed hold-ups and other crimes presumably to obtain money with which to purchase their way to freedom.

Others concerned gay midnight parties said to have been staged in round houses around Joliet by men on the honor farm.

U.S. Breadbasket Astir With Plans For Big Harvest

Chicago, May 12.—The nation's breadbasket—that wide area extending from northern Texas well up into the Canadian provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta—is astir with harvest plans.

Already the fields of golden wheat are ripening a few miles from where the cotton belt leaves off in Texas and the roar of crawling tractors announces the beginning of the reaper's journey from Wichita Falls to Prince Albert.

The last of the nomadic harvest hands have left West Madison street in Chicago but reports from the southwest indicate that the usual labor shortage is impending. Hands will be scarce enough to keep wages high and by late August when the transient worker finishes his season in the upper valley of the Red river he will have sufficient money to keep him comfortably throughout the winter.

Reports from United News correspondents in Oklahoma and Kansas indicate bumper crops are in prospect as a result of the heavy snow which came early in April.

LAST RITES SAID FOR ALTON PARKER

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Funeral services for Alton B. Parker, noted jurist and presidential candidate, were held today in St. Thomas Episcopal church in Fifth avenue. Political and business leaders served as honorary pallbearers.

Following the service the cortege proceeded to Kingston, where the Masonic ritual was to be read over the grave in the Parker family plot. Representatives of 20 organizations with which Mr. Parker was connected were represented at the funeral.

The honorary pallbearers included Charles Evans Hughes and Charles M. Schwab.

Judge Parker died Monday while driving through Central park. He was 74 years old.

FAIR AND PLEASANT WEATHER SLATED FOR SECTION TODAY

Another fair day with bracing temperatures and light winds is scheduled for Atlanta today, C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist for the Atlanta branch of the United States weather bureau, predicted Wednesday.

Temperatures will be lower by two or three degrees throughout the day than on Wednesday, but fair weather will prevail, and no rain is in sight at present, he said. The minimum thermometer reading Wednesday was 60 degrees and the highest recorded for the day was 73 degrees.

Call Telephone Numbers Not Individuals!

Station to Station Calls Reduce Telephone Bills

TO make a station-to-station call you merely tell the operator that you wish to be connected with a certain telephone at the distant point. You do not ask for a particular person.

The call can be completed even if you do not know the number of the telephone you are calling. You can ask to be connected with the telephone in Mr. Blank's residence or with the telephone in the office of Jones & Company.

These calls can be handled quickly and at a lower rate because the operator does not have to locate a particular party. She merely connects you with the distant telephone and the charge begins when the called telephone answers.

Station-to-station long distance telephone service is becoming more popular as telephone users understand how simple it is to make calls of this kind.

Try this service when making social or business calls. You will be surprised how quickly you get your party, and the small cost will please you.

Ask "Long Distance" for rates and other detailed information about all classes of long distance calls.

Rexall Original ONE CENT SALE

Thursday, Friday, Saturday--May 13, 14, 15

THE plan of the One Cent Sale is to sell you one of a selected list of clean, fresh, desirable merchandise at the regular price and an additional one for 1c only. As an example, when you buy the large 50c tube of Kleenox Dental Cream during this sale you get another 50c tube for 1c.

This sale was developed by us as an advertising plan. Rather than spend money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, we are spending it by selling you a full size package of high-grade standard merchandise for 1c when the first package is purchased at its regular retail price.

GEORGIA SITES TO BE INSPECTED

Washington, May 12.—(Special).—Appointment of a special commission to inspect Kennesaw mountain, Lost mountain and other civil war battlefields in Georgia to determine suitability for national military parks was assured Wednesday when the house passed the measure authorizing the survey which has been approved already by the senate.

The measure now goes to President Coolidge for his signature. His approval is expected.

Under the measure, a commission of three would be appointed by the secretary of war to make the survey, a commissioned officer of the engineers' corps and a veteran of the union and of the Confederate forces. The secretary of war is directed to select, as far as possible, for the commission "persons familiar with the terrain of the said battlefields and the historical events associated therewith."

An appropriation of $5,000 is provided to pay the expenses of the commission. It is ordered to make a report of its findings to the secretary of war not later than November 1, this year.

"It shall be the duty of the commission, acting under the direction of the secretary of war," the bill sets forth, "to inspect the said battlefields in order to ascertain the feasibility of their acquisition for the purpose of a national military park and of preserving and marking them for historical and professional military study and to ascertain the value of lands necessary to acquire for this purpose."

The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Harris, Representalive Wright handled its passage in the house.

OTHER NATIONAL PARKS PLANNED

Establishment of the Shenandoah National park in Virginia, and the Great Smoky Mountain National park in North Carolina and Tennessee was approved unanimously today by the senate public lands committee.

The committee agreed upon one amendment reducing the minimum acreage of the Great Smoky park in North Carolina and Tennessee from 300,000 acres to 150,000 acres to make it conform to the bill as reported favorably yesterday by the house public lands committee.

Establishment of the Mammoth Cave National park in Kentucky also was approved unanimously by the committee.

The bill provides that the government shall accept title to approximately 70,618 acres in the cave region recommended by the Southern Appalachian National park commission to the secretary of the interior. The bill sets 20,000 acres as the minimum area to be protected by the national park service.

Widow Given $1,000

His widow, knowing how he longed for a hospital at Chang Chow, and how miserable he knew this one to be, gave to the church $1,000 of the $1,800 life insurance he left, to start a fund for a hospital there. She also gave a beautiful string of amber beads which a jeweler valued at $500. Someone quickly moved that the beads be bought by the conference and given back to Mrs. Russell. In a few moments $2,500 was raised in cash, laymen and preachers, Americans, Mexicans, Chinese, Japanese and Koreans calling out their gifts and crowding to the platform in the good old Methodist way. With this amount as a nucleus, a new hospital at Chang Chow will be soon built.

The Methodist ladies of Memphis are entertaining at tea at the Memphis Country club in honor of the visiting ladies at the general conference on Wednesday afternoon. Wives of leading churchmen and women leaders in the women's work are asked to receive. Among the Georgia women who are to receive are Mrs. W. H. Alenworth, of Macon; Mrs. J. E. Dickey, Mrs. C. C. Jarrell and Mrs. Luke Johnson, of Atlanta.

Rome Chamber Works For Paved Streets, Schools, Playgrounds

Constitution Bureau

Rome, Ga., May 12.—(Special).—Properly paved streets, good parks and playgrounds, and ample schools are three objectives toward which Rome should devote its energies, according to J. S. Bachman, newly-elected president of the chamber of commerce.

"The chamber of commerce is on the road to progress," he said. "The last two years have been very successful and this success has given the people of Rome faith in the chamber of commerce so that they are willing to give it their hearty support. Cooperation and avoidance of petty grievances will be the policy of the chamber of commerce this year as it has been in the past."

"Parks and playgrounds and street improvements by the city would tend to stimulate individual interest in improvements and beautification."

Mr. Bachman is general manager of the Anchor Duck Mills, one of the largest textile industries here.

NOTHING IS HEARD FROM WILKINS TRIP

BY FREDERICK L. EARP.
(Copyright, 1924, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Fairbanks, Alaska, May 12.—Whether Captain George H. Wilkins has taken off from Point Barrow into the unexplored region now being traversed by Captain Amundsen in the Norge, or whether he is still fogbound at Barrow, is the question the Detroit arctic expedition base here strove to find answer to today.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, 7 o'clock eastern time, nothing had come through from Radio Operator Waskey, who had planned to drop to a lower wave length in the hope of breaking through the static barrage of northern Alaska.

Chief Radio Operator Howard Mason, in charge of the expedition's communication system here, maintained steady watch at his post 13 miles out of Fairbanks, where he has gone to avoid the deafening local interference.

Neither Mason nor the local army station corps operator heard any signals from the Norge, although the ship is assumed to be rapidly approaching Alaska. In his radio message late last night Captain Wilkins reported a dense fog had been hanging over the arctic coast for four days. Whether the Norge has encountered this fog was the subject of much conjecture here.

Give him a good water physic advises the physician

A good water physic—that means Pluto Water.

When you want to clean your intestines clean—when you want all the irritating, poisonous deposits to move out so that health can move in—see that you use water—Pluto Water.

Pluto works the way it does because it is a water. It washes the bowel tract—completely and gently.

The world has been trying physics of one sort or another for over 4,000 years, but it has yet to find anything better than water physics for the purpose.

Pluto Water is water—remember that the next time your intestines need attention. It is bottled at French Lick Springs and sold at all drug stores. Physicians prescribe it.

PILSUDSKI LEADS REVOLT IN POLAND

Polish government has undertaken all necessary measures to protect the constitution and to obtain law and order throughout the country.

"The president of the republic as the supreme chief of the army, has appealed to those guilty of insubordination, as well as all other citizens, urging them to maintain the law."

POLAND CLAIMS ORDER RESTORED

Warsaw, May 12.—A daring revolutionary outbreak in Poland still possessed dangerous possibilities late Wednesday night despite earlier claims by the government that complete order had been restored.

Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, former army head and national hero who engineered the revolution against the newly formed government of Premier Witos, had entered the city under escort of troops friendly to him, and at a late hour was continuing negotiations with the government.

Meanwhile, 10,000 insurgents under Pilsudski's banner had occupied Praga, a suburb of Warsaw.

It was reported that Pilsudski was demanding the resignation of Premier Witos as a price for peace. If the negotiations break down, Pilsudski presumably will renew his hostility.

POLISH LEGATION EXPLAINS REVOLT

Washington, May 12.—An official explanation of the attempted coup d'etat near Warsaw was made here Wednesday by the Polish legation.

Conspirators by means of forged orders issued to a detachment of troops stationed at Rembertow, near Warsaw, had caused them to mutiny. The Polish government has undertaken to maintain the constitution and has appealed to all citizens, including those guilty of insubordination, for support, the statement said.

M. E. CONFERENCE REJECTS CHANGES

evening and stirred his audience this morning with a great missionary message.

Bishop to Speak

This evening at the Character Builders' hall, the Memphis Methodist hospital will graduate a large class of nurses. Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, president of the general hospital board of the church, will make the address.

Tuesday evening at the auditorium the fraternal messengers from the British Wesleyan church and the Japan Methodist church brought messages of greetings and hope from Methodism across the seas.

A beautiful incident full of sentiment and sacrifice closed the business grind of the morning session Tuesday.

NORFOLK SOUTHERN DIRECTORS REELECTED

Norfolk, Va., May 12.—(AP)—Directors of the Norfolk Southern railway were reelected today at the annual meeting of the stockholders. The annual report of President George B. Loyall showed the financial condition of the company to be improved and its traffic picking up, with April business the best in its history.

Observe Half-Holiday

Rome, Ga., May 12.—(Special).—Broad street merchants, dry goods, clothing, hardware, and grocery closed their doors today at 12 o'clock on the first half holiday of the season. All Rome banks begin today closing at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, with the exception of the savings departments, which will remain open until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Apparatus Aids Gym

Rome, Ga., May 12.—(Special).—Increased activity is being demonstrated at the Y. M. C. A. since the new apparatus for the gymnasium has been erected. The adjustable striking bag, drum, flying rings, spring board and duplex pulley weights and gymnasium mat has greatly increased the usefulness of the gym to the members. H. D. Schrock, physical director of the boys' department of the gymnastic team of the Chattanooga association, and members of the team, will give a performance here Friday night.

The calling off of the British general strike will be a relief to the apprehensions of the civilized world.

Like the stegomyia fasciata it carried the germs of a fever that could have affected all nations with industrial weakness and political unrest.

The Briarcliff arms of Britain's commerce reach into every country of the globe and cannot be ignored.

When they are foreshortened or palsied the trade of mankind is unusually disturbed.

Hence the gladness with which the cessation of the general strike will be universally hailed.

The issues involved and yet to be adjusted under the truce are peculiar to the industrialists, the workmen and the government of England.

There is a reasonable hope that the three will, in the historic British habit, muddle through to a pacific and acceptable harmony of interests.

Several revelations have come out of the strike impasse while it lasted.

One is that the British government has no thought of yielding its duties to the people to any power short of a successful revolution.

Another is that the people of Britain hold their rights to life, its necessary provisions and protection, above the interests of any one trade or union of special classes.

The third is that a general strike without almost unlimited subsistence funds in hand can last only to the bottom of its war chest.

These three facts should assure a long peace ahead for industrial Britain.

H. B. Davis Paint Booth Attracts Hardware Men At Auditorium Exhibit

Sales Manager, Finds Atlanta Is Most Favorable Convention City, Which Draws Crowds.

The booth of the H. B. Davis Paint company at the municipal auditorium, where members of the Retail Hardware Dealers' association display products, attracted much attention Wednesday as a special feature of the convention. J. E. McMillan, sales manager at Savannah for the Davis company's southern territory, is in charge.

"For six years it has been the custom of the company to display its products at the annual convention of the association," Mr. McMillan said, "and it has been found that better results have been obtained at the Atlanta meetings than at any of the others. Atlanta is without doubt one of the best convention cities in the United States. There is something about it which appeals to everyone and all want to come here. Actual figures show that attendance records here surpass all others."

"More visitors have been received at the Davis booth during this convention than at any other time and we are more than gratified with the interest. Particular attention is called this time to our 100 per cent pure paints. The Davis company is the first manufacturer to produce a paint which is strictly 100 per cent pure. We advertise this product as 'our baby'."

In South 35 years. The H. B. Davis company has its manufacturing plant at Baltimore, Md. It has been in business in the south for 35 years. During past years sales in southern territory have shown a remarkable increase, leading the company to make many extensions.

A warehouse was established in this city some time ago for the distribution of paint, and just recently the capacity of the branch has been increased to include the oil products of the company. A carload of oil was received several days ago.

"Atlanta has been found a splendid point for distribution," Mr. McMillan added. "We find we can reach Tennessee, Florida and Georgia points from Atlanta. Even shipments to Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are handled from the Atlanta warehouse."

In speaking of Davis products, Mr. McMillan said: "Every can of Davis' 100 per cent pure paint bears a guarantee label, stating that if the ingredients do not fill specifications set out in the guarantee, the can of paint goes without cost to the purchaser."

Covering Capacity High.

"Covering capacity of Davis paint is fully from 75 per cent to 80 per cent greater than hand-mixed lead and linseed oil or impurely prepared paints—and it wears from two to five times longer."

"It costs as much to apply a gallon of impure paint, and since the greatest cost in painting is the labor, one can readily see that the use of using a paint which is guaranteed to be absolutely pure."

"During the many years which the Davis paint has been operating it has striven to produce the purest paint known to the manufacturer. Endless research and experimental work has been expended in the production of pure paint, and the company feels it has been amply rewarded in finally producing a paint strictly pure."

In speaking of Davis products, Mr. McMillan said: "Every can of Davis' 100 per cent pure paint bears a guarantee label, stating that if the ingredients do not fill specifications set out in the guarantee, the can of paint goes without cost to the purchaser."

ALLEGED FEDERAL JOB SALES TO BE PROBED

Washington, May 12.—The senate has been asked to investigate charges that postoffice and other federal appointments have been bought and sold.

Senator Couzens, Michigan, republican, introduced the resolution. He said charges have been brought to the civil service committee, of which he is chairman, that members of congress and political organizations had obtained federal appointments through promises of appointments, which is a direct violation of the penal code.

His resolution charged also that many postoffice appointments have been made in disregard of civil service regulations. The civil service committee would be empowered to make the investigation. The resolution was referred to that committee by the senate.

Charges of buying and selling of federal appointments have been made on several occasions in the house this year, all involving southern states. Representative Wurzbach, only republican member from Texas, charged that the republican organization in his state was buying and selling postoffice appointments, creating quite a sensation in the house and bringing reaction from officials of the state organization, headed by R. B. Creager, republican, national committeeman.

EVANGELIST HERE SPEAKS AGAINST SIN IN ATLANTA

"The Bible condemns only one thing in Atlanta; namely, sin," declared Evangelist F. Lincome Wednesday night at the First Methodist church, 213 Hill street, at the nightly service held in connection with the Holiness convention. Large congregations are attending.

"Sin is covetous. Men are no longer willing to pray for us this day of our daily bread. One man is saying 'give me all the wheat,' another wants all the oil, another wants all the coal," he continued.

"Sin is a knocker and inaugurated the knocking business 6,000 years ago when the devil struck Adam and knocked him over the embankment. Some tell us that the devil is chained but he is not. He is right here in Atlanta," said Evangelist Lincome.

HUIE REEVES' TRIAL WILL BEGIN TODAY

Huie Reeves, white youth, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death on March 21 of Joseph Finn, of Detroit, will go on trial this morning before Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy in Fulton superior court.

Reeves is alleged to have been the driver of the machine which crashed into a white post on Spring street on March 21, causing the post to fall upon Finn, a pedestrian. Finn received injuries which proved fatal a few days later at Grady hospital. The indictment charged that Reeves "without intent to do so and while in the commission of an unlawful act, caused the death of Finn."

The defendant will be represented by Attorney William Sey Howard, and Assistant Solicitor General John H. Hudson will prosecute the case.

LARGE DOLLAR-PAID FOR POSTMASTER

Edwin K. Large was nominated Wednesday for his second term as postmaster of Atlanta, according to press dispatches from Washington. Confirmation is expected to follow in routine senate procedure.

Mr. Large began his first term in June, 1922, and each succeeding year has been marked by appreciable increases in postoffice business. According to dispatches from Washington, the operation of the Atlanta postoffice under the four years of Mr. Large's administration has been noteworthy for an efficiency of system and development of service without precedent.

Before his appointment to the office in 1922, Mr. Large was a real estate operator in this city. During the late war he was chief engineer at Camp Gordon. He came to Atlanta originally from Flemington, N. J.

Atlanta postal records during the years of Mr. Large's administration have been as follows: 1923, $2,353,641.59; 1924, $3,265,005.74; 1925, $4,408,388.13, and 1926, $3,628,823.98.

O. L. Alderman is assistant postmaster and has been in the office since Mr. Large first assumed the postmastership.

Southern Railway's Corn-Cup Contest Interest Increases

Competition for the Southern Railway system's corn cup this year will be offered by a greatly increased number of growers, according to advices received at the office of Roland Turner, of Atlanta, general agricultural agent for the Southern road.

Letters of inquiry have been received from a large number of individual growers, fair officials, club workers and county agents, asking how to enter the contest.

As in 1925, the cup will be offered to the grower of the best 10 ears of corn from Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee or Kentucky, exhibited at any one of a list of leading state and district fairs to be designated.

The cup which is a handsome silver trophy, was won last year by Willie Pat Boland, a corn club boy of Newberry county, South Carolina, and will remain in his possession until this year's winner is announced.

"Loan Shark Evils" Will Be Discussed At Jaycees Meeting

Discussion of loan shark methods in Atlanta and unregulated wage and salary buying as a "national, social and economic evil," by Milton W. Bell, of the Federal Reserve bank, will feature the weekly luncheon at 12-20 o'clock today of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber building.

J. L. R. Boyd, general counsel of the Atlanta Legal Aid society, also will make a brief address, outlining means of curbing operators.

Other speakers scheduled for brief talks are Herbert E. Chubb, chairman of the Georgia committee on credit unions and George M. Gentry, secretary of the credit union of the A. B. & A. employees.

Several other matters of business pertaining to the development of Atlanta will come up for discussion, it is announced.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL CASE TO BE RETRIED

Retrial of the case of the Roosevelt Memorial association, versus E. Y. Clarke, of Atlanta, was ordered in a decision handed down Wednesday by the state court. The decision of the appellate court reversed the late Judge George L. Bell in his action directing a verdict for Mr. Clarke and a rehearing in now necessary in the superior court. The association claims that Mr. Clarke owes it over $4,000 for improper expense charges and unearned salary collected.

Mr. Clarke was employed by the association, the suit sets forth, to obtain subscriptions and make collections in this state for a memorial to the late President Theodore Roosevelt and that Mr. Clarke was to receive a weekly salary of $100 and was empowered to expend additional sums in proper expenses. The association claims that he is indebted to it for $4,075.04 and interest for alleged improper expense charges and $583.30 for unearned salary paid, it is alleged by the association.

The account was referred by the trial court to an auditor who found partly in favor of both sides with an aggregate result, according to the court of appeals decision of "a finding in favor of the plaintiff, the Roosevelt Memorial association, for the principal sum of $3,094.59 with interest from April 1, 1920."

The appellate court states that "the court erred in refusing to strike the defendant's exceptions of facts numbered 4 to 10 inclusive." The superior court direction for a verdict against the plaintiff for court costs was therefore overruled and all later developments declared nugatory.

Novel Entertainment.

"Miss Eighteenth Amendment" and "Mr. Patriotic Citizen," will be joined in "wedlock" at 8 o'clock Friday night, May 21, in a feature mock wedding arranged by the McEldon W. C. T. U. At the pealing of the organ the patriotic wedding will be performed by "Miss Columbia," as the minister.

Dillman Sails With Bride For Honeymoon Overseas

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, May 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dillman, the latter the widow of Horace E. Dodge, millionaire automobile manufacturer, sailed in the Imperial suite aboard the Cunarder Hesperia today for a honeymoon abroad.

Although Mr. Dillman, who until her marriage Saturday was known as one of the world's wealthiest widows, was in tears as the big liner warped away from her dock, she insisted that she was "radiantly happy," and said the tears were for the parting with the son and daughter, who were at the pier.

Mr. Dillman, who is the former husband of Marjorie Rambeau, also declared he was happy, and said: "I could not be honest," if I said anything else.

"I left the stage three years ago, although I love it with all my heart," he said. "One has to work too hard for what one gets out of it, though. I have found that there is more money to be made in other pursuits."

He said that since leaving the stage he has been selling real estate. Now, he added, he may go into the automobile business. He denied a published story that he bought a string of pearls for his wife with the commission for negotiating the sale of the Joshua S. Coden property in Palm Beach to the former Mrs. Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillman are going direct to Southampton. From there they will motor to London for a short stay, after which they will travel on the continent.

Charges Against Councilmen Slated To Be Aired Monday

While speculation was rife in city hall circles Wednesday as to what disposition council would make Monday to charges of Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the Atlanta Civic council, that at a recent meeting of council one alderman was drunk, City Attorney James L. Mayson declined to make a ruling as to the authority of council in the event a councilman is proved to be drunk. He stated he would do so when called upon by the proper authority.

Mayor Andrews Tuesday furnished Mayor Walter A. Sims with an affidavit in support of her complaint that an alderman was drunk on the floor of the council; that eight liquor bottles were found in a seat in an anteroom of the council chamber the day after the meeting and that "four other members of the city legislative body were unfit to transact the city's business." This was in compliance with a demand by Councilman John A. Sims, of the fourth, that such evidence which could be transmitted to council with the intent of inaugurating a probe.

Mrs. Andrews writes letter.

Mrs. Andrews also mailed a letter to The Constitution Wednesday in which she declared that the "fight which is on is virtue versus immorality, and against the governing influence of the underworld, which is exerted through some of our duly elected lawmakers on every home in Atlanta."

Mayor Sims declared he will transmit copy of the affidavit together with copies of communications between Mrs. Andrews and Mr. White to council for "such disposition as the council sees fit."

The question raised Wednesday was whether, if Mrs. Andrews' charges were proved true, it were grounds for impeachment or whether council could reprimand the "offending member." It was intimated that the city attorney had made an "unofficial" ruling that the offense could be considered only as a breach of courtesy to the body, and a reprimand as far as council goes in the matter, but he declined to reiterate this Wednesday, saying he would reserve his ruling until called upon by the "proper authority" for his ruling.

Mr. White, in a letter to Mrs. Andrews, asked facts to prove her charges, saying that he would press an effort to effect a councilmanic investigation at the Monday meeting of council. He is expected to do this and the matter will be given a complete airing before fact body.

Text of letter:

The communication, which Mrs. Andrews Wednesday asked The Constitution to publish, follows:

Editor The Atlanta Constitution:

The women of Atlanta, who are represented by myself as head of the Civic Council of Women, are among the most cultured and refined that our southland has produced at any time. Women who shrink from notoriety and publicity—women representing the very highest type of virtue, of which courage plays an important part, just as it did during the strife and warfare between the states.

On the part of these women I wish to express appreciation of the manner in which the secretary amount of publicity has been given to the exchange of communications between Mr. White and myself and to a continuation of that respectful consideration. We do not ask that a single fact be withheld, or that I personally be spared a just retribution should my charges prove untrue, but I do wish this fact kept in mind, that the fight which is on is virtue versus immorality, and the governing influence of the underworld which is exerted through some of our duly elected lawmakers on every home in Atlanta. The time has arrived when the strength of righteous womanhood is to aid the splendid men who are numerous throughout our city to raise the standard of civic virtue and put their hands on vice.

We have no intention of storming council meeting next Monday, though I and others will without doubt be present. We do not look at this matter as airing a scandal, but simply as a part of our spring housecleaning, which cleanses the best of Atlanta will be simply asked to lift and air and make some of the coverings about us. The women will do the rest.

(Signed) MRS. J. E. ANDREWS.

ATHENS DOCTOR HEADS SURGEONS

Albany, Ga., May 12.—(AP)—Dr. J. C. Keaton, of Albany, president of the Dougherty County Medical association, late yesterday was elected a member of the executive board of the Railway Surgeons' association of Georgia, at the business session of that body held here prior to the formal opening of the 77th annual convention of the Medical Association of Georgia. Dr. H. M. Fullilove of Athens, was elected president of the association.

Other officers elected were Dr. J. P. Bowdoin, Atlanta, first vice president; W. M. Folks, Waycross, second vice president; A. H. Williams, Albany, third vice president, and J. W. Palmer, Ailey, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Keaton succeeds J. M. Spence, of Camilla.

The outstanding report made at this session was that of Dr. J. M. Palmer, delegate to the A. A. A. which was with reference to the matter of "foreign transportation for railway surgeons," the surgeons all over the country have been working for years on a change of the law which may be interpreted as forbidding exchange of passes by the various railroads of the country to the railway surgeons. Dr. Palmer reported that "progress is being made."

There are about 400 railway surgeons in the state and there were more than 75 in attendance at the meeting. There are 15,000 in the United States, it was stated by the secretary, Dr. Palmer.

DR. KING TO SPEAK AT SEMINARY CLOSING

Dr. Elisha A. King, of Miami Beach, will deliver the principal address at the commencement exercises of Atlanta Theological seminary this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. King is one of the leading Congregational pastors of the Congregational denomination, is a specialist in church publicity and aids the department on church methods in The Expositor, one of America's leading magazines for ministers. He also is department editor of The Southern Congregationalist. The public is invited to attend the exercises today.

SPANISH AVIATORS OFF FOR MANILA

Apurri, Luzon, P. I., May 13.—(AP) Captain Longa and Gallarza, flying from Madrid to Manila, hopped off from Apurri at 7:55 o'clock this morning for Manila on the last leg of their long aerial journey.

TWO MILK LAW VIOLATORS FINED

R. F. Bruce, of Chamblee, and L. Wallace, of 401 Highland avenue, were fined $20 and $16 respectively Tuesday afternoon when arraigned before Alderman Claude E. Buchanan, presiding for Judge A. O. Calloway in recorder's court, to answer charges of violating the new city milk laws.

In passing sentence, Alderman Buchanan stated that he hoped that all Atlanta dairymen would understand that the laws are obeyed and that more drastic sentences would be imposed in the future.

Bruce and Wallace were arrested by B. E. Rice, city milk inspector.

Nurses Are Graduated.

Eighteen negro nurses were awarded their graduation diplomas from the municipal training school for negro nurses of Grady hospital, at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the Butler Street church.

TRUCK RUNS DOWN ATLANTA WOMAN

Miss Nellie Bruce Yarborough, of 68 Waverly way, was seriously injured Wednesday when struck down by an automobile at Edgewood avenue and Waverly way. The truck was driven by E. A. Turner, of 94 Flora avenue, according to police reports. Miss Yarborough was taken to Grady hospital, where it was announced that X-ray pictures would be necessary to determine the extent of her injuries.

Mr. Turner carried Miss Yarborough to the hospital and then reported the accident at police station. A case of reckless driving was made against him pending the outcome of the young woman's condition.

AMERICANS ON TOUR OF FLANDERS FIELDS

Havre, France, May 12.—(AP)—Members of four old-time military organizations in the United States who are to tour the battlefields of France on the invitation of Marshal Foch arrived here today aboard the steamship Chicago. They left later for a three-day visit to the Belgian battlefields. They will be received at Brussels by King Albert.

The organizations making up the group are the Richmond Blues, the first company of the governor's foot guards of Hartford, Conn.; the second company of the guards, New Haven, Conn., and the Putnam Phalanx.

"Oh, what a beautiful skin! Not a pimple—not a blemish.
Perfectly rounded shoulders and a venue-like back! No wonder she's popular."

"If I could only get rid of these ugly pimples, my skin would be clear and soft and dimpling, like hers—maybe people would call me lovely, too."

You're right! The only thing that mars your beauty are those unsightly skin blemishes. Clear them away and watch eyes full of admiration turn in your direction, wherever you go. "But how can I get rid of them?" you ask. What will drive the wretched things away so they won't come back?

Why, that's just exactly what
S. S. S. helps Nature do. It's been clearing away pimples, blackheads and blotches for centuries. S. S. S. helps Nature build up the blood to where it's pure and healthy—then these ugly things dry right up. And that's the only way you can keep the skin clear and unblemished.

S. S. S. puts the blood back to where it can fight the impurities that get in your system and kills them off before they break out through the skin. You can't stop skin eruptions from the outside.
You've got to get down underneath where the trouble is—down in the blood.

Begin taking S. S. S. and watch how quickly you get that skin beauty that belongs to you.

S. S. S. will charge
your whole system
so full of strength building, pure, healthy, red blood
that you'll be simply brimful of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get

Nice New Place To Go For Beautiful Wool 'O' Rugs Make Ride and Delightful Meal Ideal Wedding Presents

"Where shall we go?"
"I was wondering the same thing. What do you say if we go out to J. P. Hunter's at the intersection of Piedmont and Roswell road? It's only about a mile from Buckhead, or eight miles from Five Points."
"All right! What kind of a place has he?"
"Well, a beautiful new stucco building, Spanish in style, set in beautiful grounds in a fine neighborhood, a place of refinement to which I can take you or mother at any time during the day or up until midnight."
"Isn't this a beautiful night?"
"It surely is and since I had this car reconditioned, it runs smooth as a top."
"Isn't that a beautiful home?"
"You bet. Atlanta beats the world when it comes to having so many fine homes."
"What do they have at this Hunter's place we are going to?"
"Oh, heaps of good things—ice cream, candies and sodas of all kinds—give you curb service when you want it. You ought to see the fine barbecue they serve. I was out there the other day with a friend of mine and his wife, and had a noontime luncheon, and say, I do not know when I enjoyed a meal in a long time like that. Mr. Hunter has a specially built barbecue house and an expert man in charge and everything was done so nicely that I thought of you and wanted you to have the same pleasure."
"What are all the cars parked up on the hill for? What, there so soon?"
"Yes, and it looks as if everybody else in Atlanta has heard about Hunter's place, too. However, if he has many inside, we can have our dinner out under the trees. See, where all those other people are under the electric lights.

"One good thing with this Roswell road being so wide, both Piedmont and this other road coming in here, there is plenty of parking space."
"We had better make a dash for that table. Gee, just in time. Here comes a waiter now. Waiter, what have you got good tonight?"
"Oh, everything—the market affords, but I am specially recommending the barbecued lamb, pork and beef tonight, as it is extra good."
"What will you have, dearie, barbecued lamb? All right, one lamb and one pork. Let them both come with all the trimmings. And ice cream and coffee for the lady. Give me a bottle of that Atlanta-made Swiss brew."
"Nice looking lot of people here tonight. Ah, here comes the waiter. That is all now, thanks. If we want anything we will call you. What do you think of it?"
"Splendid. I do not think I could eat anything, so soon after the evening meal at home, but when you got talking about barbecue, you made me feel hungry. I do like barbecue when it is nicely done and flavored like this. Then I guess there is something in the atmosphere and environment out here that adds a zest to the taste of everything."
"Want anything else?"
"No, thanks, unless it might be another cup of coffee. This seems extra good."
"I noticed that the coffee was splendid the other day, and when I get good coffee I always remember the place and go there again. Ready? Let's go out through the building. I want to show you what a nice place Mr. Hunter has here and get a cigar. Have some candy to nibble on the way home."
"Gee, at the cars that came after we did and more coming yet. This is going to be a very popular place for people who can appreciate good things. We must come out here often."

What could be more suitable for a wedding or birthday present than those beautiful Wool 'O' rugs on sale by the Joseph Gardner company, 207 Peachtree street?
Picture the delight of the sweet girl graduate, or the girls home from school if they were to see what a cheery effect two or three of these rugs can make in the 'old room' they love so well.
These beautiful rugs come in many styles and their fine texture and attractive natural color tones insure a clean appearance at all times. They will make a dull room look comfortable and homelike at a very small outlay to the buyer.
A splendid feature about these rugs is that they are serviceable, and will look new about twice as long as any ordinary rug would. They are the easiest rugs to keep clean, always lie flat and have a restful effect upon the eyes of those who admire the beautiful in home furnishings.
These rugs come in match sets if needed and in all colors, sizes and shapes. No matter how fine or humble the home may be, there is a single or match set of Wool 'O' rugs that will make the humble home look brighter and more cheerful and give the rooms in the finer homes that 'comfy,' homelike atmosphere that makes the owner glad to have Wool 'O' rugs.
There is another splendid thing about these Wool 'O' rugs, and that is the buyers can get just what they want in size or shape to blend and harmonize with any color scheme of other furnishings they wish to match.
Here again is another advantage about these Wool 'O' rugs—if the buyers have some particular style or shape in mind that they wish to have made to conform to their individual tastes, all they have to do is to give the local firm a special order and they can get what they want in a very few days.
In giving one or more of these beautiful rugs to a friend for a present, the donor is giving a splendid, useful article that will always be a reminder of the thoughtful giver.

New Convenience Ready for Busy Atlanta Housekeepers

The Pura Water company, located at 21-23 Piedmont avenue, makes it convenient for business offices and homes to use their triple-pure water; that is, their Pura, plain aerated water, and Waukesha lithia water. They furnish modern, twentieth century sanitary water coolers to regular customers both in homes and offices, and these modern contrivances enable one to take advantage of the absolute purity of the water, as it is originally produced, and makes water drinking a convenience, pleasure and health safeguard combined.
Where the housewife does not care to incur the expense of iced water, in addition to her refrigerator, she may obtain the water in half-gallon bottles (six to a case), which is a convenient size for handling in and out of the refrigerator and is therefore an ice saver. These bottles are hermetically sealed and the original purity of the water is thereby insured. The water also is sold in this size bottle by drug stores.

The company maintains a fleet of water trucks, including a special service truck, and prompt delivery to any part of Atlanta or suburbs can be made any day.
The purity of Pura water and Waukesha lithia water is guaranteed, and it may be used by anyone in the most delicate health, including infants, to advantage, but it is especially recommended for those suffering from stomach, kidney and intestinal disorders in preference to ordinary water, which is usually "hard." The telephone is Walnut 9320.

New Refrigeration A Boon to Week-End Vacationists

With the development of electrical refrigeration, as in the development of the automobile, the "call to open spaces" beckons more invitingly to the American family than ever before.
The enjoyableness of many a week-end trip has been marred by the thought that there was likelihood of finding spoiled and tainted food upon returning home.
Now electric refrigeration, such as provided by the Servel, makes absolutely certain that there will always be the unchanging, scientific cold so necessary to the prevention of bacterial development. Whatever you determine as the number of degrees desired in your refrigerator Servel maintains; in fact, cannot help but maintain, being continuously and efficiently regulated by that most dependable of forces—electricity. And the cost of operation is surprisingly small.

DOGS TO ATTEMPT TO SWIM CHANNEL AS HUMANS FAIL

Baltimore, May 12.—(P)—Channel swimming this summer is not to be exclusively the sport of humans. Chesacraft Drake, the kennel world's greatest Chesapeake bay dog, and Chesacraft Mark Montauk are going to attempt it.
The two huge Chesapeake bay dogs will sail from New York on the Volendam Saturday with Miss Lillian Cannon, Baltimore swimmer, and will tackle the English channel side by side with her. Chesacraft Drake is a remarkable specimen of his species, massive of chest and shoulder. He weighs 75 pounds and is a strong swimmer. The Chesapeake bay dog is used almost exclusively in hunting water fowl and will dive six to eight feet under the surface to retrieve game.

Charleston Dancers Enter CONSOLATION CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED Second Half of Fast Week

Tring Jackson, Mamie Swartz, Nellie Kincaid and Margaret Hoover were declared winners for the second time Wednesday night in the Constitution-Public theater Charleston beauty-tournament at the Howard theater.

Not an extra square foot of floor space was left in the theater. The house was packed as it has been packed every night since the first exhibition of competitive dancing.

The four steps were selected Wednesday night and triumphed the night before, and three of them had been victors in the opening contest.

Consolation Contest Announced.

At the Saturday matinee a consolation contest will be staged, in which all girls who have been eliminated will be eligible to enter. First prize in this contest will be $20; second prize, $15, and third prize, $10.

The winners went up against real competition Wednesday and the audience had a hard time deciding just who deserved the honors. The other entrants were: Misses Margie Ross, Janet Kelly, Muriel Spradlin, Edith Laxenburger and Nellie Kincaid.

Of the nine, there wasn't a girl who didn't appear as if she knew about all the steps there are and the most graceful method of execution. It is doubtful if a better exhibition has been staged since the opening of the contest, which is indicative of even more interesting programs, as the finish nears and competition grows even keener.

The four winning girls, all of whom, incidentally, are as beautiful as they are adept at the Charleston, will meet challengers tonight. Ringside seats will be at a premium.

Miss Georgia Snow Leads.

The contest is being staged by Miss Georgia Snow, the original Charleston girl. At the conclusion of each contest, Miss Snow gives her interpretation of the dance. She is an Atlanta girl, who began her dancing here several years ago. Since, she has won an enviable reputation upon the vaudeville stage and is the originator of all the intricate Charleston steps used in her number. Miss Snow is the daughter of Dr. Joseph Bradford, formerly of Atlanta and now living in Birmingham.

The winner of the Constitution-Public contest will receive a 12-week engagement with the John Murray Anderson production "Charleston" which will be staged in New York at the Rivoli, June 13, followed by a tour of 12 cities in which Public theaters are located. The production will be seen at the Howard September 5.

Second prize in the contest is $100 in gold; the third prize is $50 in gold and the fourth prize is a three-months' pass to the Howard theater. All girls between 16 and 25 years of age are eligible.

WATKINS SPEAKS TO GROCERS' MEET

An address by Edgar Watkins, prominent Atlanta attorney, counsel for the Wholesale Grocers' association, at the morning session and an elaborate entertainment program sponsored by Miss Jessie Rees-Calvert for Raley Brothers, Inc., given in honor of the convention delegates, featured the session Wednesday of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the association at the Biltmore hotel.

The morning session got under way at 9 o'clock. In addition to the address of Mr. Watkins, addresses were made by prominent speakers representing five national business organizations. The talks dealt with intricate problems confronting various organizations in the association. Among the speakers were Claude Sharpe, of Little Rock, Ark., sixth vice president of the National Association of Retail Grocers; Luman R. Wing, Jr., president of the National Food Brokers' association; Elmer E. Chase, president of the National Canners' association; F. D. Bristley, president of the American Grocery Specialty association, and others.

Outlines Problems.

Mr. Watkins in his address outlined the legal problems of the food industry and explained in detail the impossibility of curing economic ills by legislation.

"Anti-trust laws," Mr. Watkins said, "so generally believed in and so preferentially and inadequately enforced, hamper small businesses but do little more than annoy big business. Well meaning but unscientific reformers, believing that business and morals can be made pure by statute, seek to impose their notions by regulating activities from arguments to moving pictures. You have suffered this situation, but it is a condition requiring consideration in the conduct of your business," Mr. Watkins declared.

"The greater part of the business of distribution is conducted under the plan of suggesting or maintaining a resale price. While a resale price is not binding on the buyer, it may be suggested by the seller, but activities of the seller making effective his suggestion cannot go so far as to restrain competition," Mr. Watkins added.

Direct selling was another high light of Mr. Watkins' address. "There is yet much to be done before the wholesaler will definitely know what his rights are. He should, in my opinion, defend the right to make suggestions and, should the federal trade commission interfere with that right, appeal to the courts and obtain from the supreme court the United States definite statements of what the law is. "Argument is not coercion and the right to argue is an inalienable right protected by our constitution, and argument is a way of arriving at a correct conclusion. Facts and problems are needed," he declared.

Chain stores were discussed at length by the speaker. "The conditions following the inauguration of chain stores has brought about mergers among wholesale grocers," he said. "Possibly they indicate a necessity for chains of wholesalers. There is a limit to the legal right to form mergers. Mergers will promote efficiency and economy," he added.

In referring to the 1920 packers' decree, Mr. Watkins said: "It is my belief that the packers' decree of 1920 is a valid decree and that it will be so held when and if the case reaches the supreme court of the United States."

In speaking of the loss and damage claims, the speaker declared that in an interstate shipment of goods where there is loss, damage, or injury, the shipper is entitled to recover full compensation. "Specifically," he said, "this means that if you have goods transported by a common carrier in interstate commerce and they are lost, the measure of your recovery is the full value of the goods at the destination. It is not the value for them—but their full actual value." He ended his informative address by giving a definition of cost and value.

Today's program will be devoted entirely to general discussion of business problems in the form of an open forum.

CLUB IS FORMED TO HONOR GRADY

Leading citizens of Atlanta formed the Henry Grady club Wednesday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel.

In the absence of Hon. Walter Brown, provisional president, who is at the Southern Baptist convention in Houston, Dr. Sam Small, of the editorial staff of The Constitution, presided. James L. Logan was secretary.

Dr. Small stated as the object of organizing the club a desire to revive and perpetuate the altruistic and optimistic spirit of the famous editor and orator. He recalled Grady's advent in Atlanta and the passion the young journalist conceived for the growth, prosperity and glory of the city. He labored with unselfish devotion to promote every endeavor and institution designed to make her the premier metropolis of the "New South."

"As a writer he had," said Dr. Small, "a peculiar and happy genius. He fired from the columns of The Constitution those notable star-shell editorials that, when they burst upon the public vision, brilliantly illuminated the whole landscape of his subject. He was an architect and not an iconoclast. He challenged the figures and his faith foresaw the achievement of his people that are now solidified in history. His oratory charmed a nation and his orations today are repeated by students of public speech throughout the country. He carried in his bosom a golden heart and in his brain the torch of a brave and loyal intellect. His services to city, state and nation deserve imitation and this club is intended to be the preserver of his memory and the promoter of his high and noble ideals."

Secretary of State McLendon spoke feelingly of Grady's personal and public characteristics and suggested lines upon which the club can regenerate and carry on the Grady spirit.

Colonel Sam Wilkes, Dr. Joe Jacobs, Captain M. Clayton, James R. Holliday and others spoke in like appreciations.

A committee was named to frame a constitution and by-laws to be reported to a meeting on May 24, which is Grady's 75th birthday.

Vice presidents are Clark Howell, Major J. S. Cohen and James B. Nevin as honorary, and Dr. Joe Jacobs and Colonel H. H. Cabanis, active.

Those present were State Treasurer William J. Speer, Secretary of State S. Guy McLendon, Dr. Joe Jacobs, James L. Logan, John M. Graham, Colonel Sam Wilkes, Walter McElreath, H. H. Cabanis, Edmund W. Martin, R. M. Clayton, Peyton H. Snook, Patrick H. Callahan, James R. Holliday, Thomas G. Erwin, Morris Brandon, Walter A. Sims, Judge H. Warner Hill, Hoke Smith, Dr. M. L. Brittain, Jack J. Spalding, Samuel C. Dobbs, John T. Beaufort, J. O. Moseley, Robert Moran, Lewis C. Gregg, W. F. Crusselle, Major Clark Howell, Jr., and ex-Governor John M. Slaton.

Headquarters of the club, through generosity of the proprietors, the Messrs. Cannon, will be permanent at the Henry Grady hotel.

The celebration of Grady's birth anniversary on the 24th inst. will be observed as a distinguished civic occasion.

Leach's Son Thinks Father Was Planning Elopement

By J. RUFUS HARDY.

Young Harold Leach, 16-year-old son of Charles Homer Leach, slayer and suicide victim, told The Constitution Wednesday night the lurid details of his father's love affair with Mrs. Knowles, which culminated in the death of both.

"I knew it would lead to this and I had warned father to go straight," he said in plaintive tones. "Since the death of my mother, six years ago, his affair with this woman has caused trouble in our family and we have all begged him to leave her alone."

Harold was taken from his home on Confederate avenue to Decatur to view the body of the woman, who, he had been told, was his father's lover and the one he had killed. The lad's face was drawn with horror and emotion, coupled with the fear of what the future might hold for him.

He did not know at the time that it was Mrs. Knowles his father had killed. He could hardly keep his thoughts collected but there was a bitterness in his tone as he related the sordid details of six years of the private life of his father and the dead woman.

He needed but one look at Mrs. Knowles to recognize her.

"That's her," he almost sobbed as he saw the form of the woman.

Thinks Elopement Planned.

Harold could give no definite reason for the killing unless, perhaps, he said, it might have been that his father had persuaded her to elope with him and at the last minute she had refused.

"I don't know what could have been the trouble," he said. "I knew of no trouble between them recently and, unless she had refused to marry him, I know of no reason for him killing her. They might have had some lover's quarrel and he became enraged and killed her."

"I wasn't home when father came in but they told me that he was very excited. If I had been there it might have been the last time I saw him. He told me not to take the poison, but I had rather he had done that than to be caught, for the police would have hanged him if they had found out who killed her."

"They told me when I came home that he came in, apparently after running some distance, and had blood on his sleeve. My sister knew something was the matter and said, 'What's the matter, daddy?'"

"He replied, 'I've killed her.' He was too excited to tell them who it was and what was the trouble."

"My sister again asked him what the trouble was and he again said, 'I've killed her and now I am going to end it all.' He then took the bottle of carbolic acid from his pocket and told my sister and grandmother that he was going to drink it and end his troubles. They told me when I reached home.

"My grandmother and my sister begged him not to drink the poison but he again said he would. My grandmother then got down on her knees and prayed that he not kill himself but he drank the poison while they looked on.

"I understand that he killed her with my grandfather's razor and then threw the razor away. They told me that he drove back towards home and at Ormewood avenue the automobile gave out of gasoline and he got out and ran the rest of the way home."

The boy could give no clue as to where his father obtained the carbolic acid or where he got the razor. He said that the murder and suicide might have been premeditated, as his father evidently had the razor and poison with him at the time he started on the fatal ride.

He presented a pitiful picture as he described a life of hardships which he has lived since the time of his mother's death. He left school just after his mother's death and began work to help support his smaller brother and sister.

"I don't know what will happen to me and my little brother and sister. I have worked hard, and I don't make but $25 a month."

"Fellows," he almost cried to the reporters with him, "if you know of any job that I can get and have enough money to make a living for me and my little brother and sister, I wish you would help me get it. I don't know what will happen to me if all this has happened. I don't know what will become of us."

In the little cluster of relatives that gathered in the dark room, the boy stretched the body of the two bright-eyed youngsters, Sarah Frances, 12, and Walter, 8, talked affectionately of the father and mother.

Their youthful minds, accustomed to the usual hardships which befall the lot of one whose mother is dead, had been soothed by the sight of the fearful tragedy which had caught them on the threshold of life. Frances, student in the sixth grade, sobbed silently as she thought of never seeing her father again. The little boy, who said he was "in higher second grade," seemed to hardly realize that he was looking at his father for the last time.

The little dingy-walled room where the body lay, brightened by a touch of femininity probably given by the girl's hand, contained among other articles a vase of flowers. It was a bit of disorder, but it could be seen that the little girl had been taught to brighten it.

Druid Hills Section Stirred By Killing and Flight

By F. J. TURNER, JR.

Tranquillity of the pretty and fashionable Druid Hills section, especially that section on Briarcliff road in the neighborhood of Emory drive, was rudely broken when that section was thrown into a panic Wednesday evening by one of the most cold-blooded and brutal murders to come to the attention of DeKalb county authorities in years.

It was when pretty Mrs. Flora Knowles had her head almost completely severed from her body by a razor wielded by Charles Homer Leach, with whom she is alleged to have had an affair. Leach later committed suicide at his home on Confederate avenue, by drinking carbolic acid.

The horrible sight that greeted the eyes of those living near the scene of the tragedy when they rushed to succor the wounded young matron is well told in the effect that it had on Mrs. Roy Nichols, who collapsed upon view of the ghastly spectacle.

Falling heavily upon the pavement, Mrs. Nichols faintly and almost lost consciousness. A Grady hospital ambulance was summoned by one of the men while the other notified Decatur police.

Before either witness reached the young woman, Leach jumped into the car, drove about 150 feet north and entered Emory drive, where the car with Leach at the wheel, disappeared from view.

There were no marks of identification on the young woman; only a card of a girl friend who lived in Atlanta. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of A. S. Turner, of Decatur, and later, when identification had been made, her sister, Mrs. P. C. Brockman, the body was removed to the parlors of Awtry & Lowndes, where arrangements will be completed today for funeral services and interment.

The body of Leach was taken from his home to the parlors of Harry G. Poole, pending completion of funeral services.

Mrs. Knowles, prior to her marriage, was Miss Jeffries, and came to Atlanta from Lawrenceville several years ago. For the past several months, since separation from her husband, she has resided with her sister, Mrs. Brockman, at 32 Rankin street. She is survived by a daughter, Mildred, age 6, who is in custody of her father, K. F. Knowles, a mechanic in the employ of a South Pryor street garage.

Couple Had Gone Together.

Mrs. Knowles, according to her sister, filed suit for divorce against Knowles last September, and although she had been going with Leach for some time, she thought her actions displeased her family and never discussed the matter with her sister. Mrs. Brockman, when informed of the tragedy late Wednesday night by a Constitution reporter, was grief-stricken. She said Mrs. Knowles had left the house Wednesday morning at the accustomed hour and went to her work as a stenographer in the law offices of C. Don Miller, in 617-618 Peters building. She did not return at the usual hour Wednesday afternoon and the sister wondered why, but had not felt unduly alarmed, she said.

Mrs. Brockman could not give very much information concerning the affairs of her slain sister or of Leach, except to verify the fact that they had been going together for sometime. The husband of the dead woman broke down when he gazed upon the lifeless form of his estranged wife, and told Constitution reporters the story of his broken marriage affairs and how the attentions of his estranged wife to Leach had caused him much grief for some time.

It was learned from persons who knew of the friendship between Leach and Mrs. Knowles that the dead man lived in fear of violence at the hands of Knowles and that on more than one occasion since the divorce suit was filed, Knowles and Leach had fought. It was said that some time ago the eyesight of the dead man had been impaired in a fist encounter with Knowles and that Leach had worried considerably recently over the probability that he might lose his eyesight altogether as a result and not be able to provide for his family.

So far as any friends of the dead man and the dead woman would say, however, there had been no rift between them and they often had been seen together. No one could offer any real reason for the quarrel of the couple or for the savage murder.

MAN IS DROWNED AT BARTLETT'S FERRY

Columbus, Ga., May 12.—(Special.)

Guy H. Hudson, of Bartlett's Ferry, 20 miles north of Columbus, was drowned Tuesday when he fell from a boat at the big dam. He was unable to swim and drowned before assistance reached him. Besides his widow, he is survived by a sister who lives in Atlanta and a brother, Roy T. Hudson, of Columbus.

Leach Broke Up Happy Home, Claims Husband of Victim

With a heart torn with grief and a form untimely bent at the youthful age of 27 years, K. F. Knowles, of 115 North Lawn street, husband of the woman who was brutally slain by Charles Homer Leach on the Briarcliff road, late Wednesday night wept bitterly as he viewed the body in the undertaking parlors of A. S. Turner, at Decatur.

Time and again he would audibly recall what he termed the happiest moments of his life—their four years of marriage, before, as he claims, his wife's alleged lover and slayer broke up his home.

"I stood it for three years, and life was a living hell, but I kept thinking Flora would come to her senses—if for no other reason but our little daughter, Mildred," Knowles said.

"I would talk to her and try to reason with her, but to no avail. Finally, in my desperation I tried to appeal to the honor of Leach—but he had no honor, and it came to the point of where I was to kill him or he me. Both he and Mary ignored my warnings and my pleadings," he said.

Knowles' version of his wife's affair with Leach was borne out by a sister of the slain woman—Mrs. P. C. Brock, who lives on Rankin street. "I warned my sister that no good could come of her relations with Leach, but she would go with him. Their meetings were rather secret—they tried to keep me from knowing it," Mrs. Brock said.

Knowles stated that his wife, who, before her marriage was Miss Flora Jeffries, was raised in the Baptist Orphan's home at Hapeville.

"We married seven years ago, this coming August, and separated August of last year, when I found life with her to be unbearable. At my earnest request she filed suit against me last September," Knowles said.

Knowles stated that the first four years of their married life were ones of supreme happiness. "She was a fine girl and the dearest mother to our little girl, until Leach came into her life three years ago," Knowles told reporters.

"Poor little Mildred—she has no mother now," he sobbed as he turned to leave the chapel in company with friends. The little daughter has been making her home with her father since last August.

ill repute. Lieutenant E. S. Acree, in charge of the vice squad, was called into the conference and told to prepare at once a list of these illegally operated places, in order that the resolution may point out specifically those who will fall under the merciless campaign to be waged by the city.

1,725 Arrests Made.

Lieutenant Acree submitted his report to the committee, showing that from January 1, 1926, to May 1, of this year, 1,725 arrests have been made by the liquor and vice squads and that a total of $17,223 has been paid into the city treasury in fines. The April report set out that 367 such cases were made during the month and that $4,123 were collected in fines.

The committee warmly commended the work of the squad and received the reports to be filed.

Patrolmen Waters and Leathers, working in the Western Heights section of the fifth ward, were commended for the efficient work they have done in that section of the city in a paper sent to the committee by 101 residents of the district. The paper bore the signatures of leading business and professional men of the ward.

The resignation of Patrolman F. G. Wilson was accepted and Patrolman J. F. McGill was recommended for retirement on a pension effective May 16. Superintendent J. A. Shumate was promoted to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of McGill, while R. H. McLean was named to the post left vacant by the recent death of A. I. Smith.

Other routine business was transacted.

father exclaimed. And, while his aged mother and children pleaded with him to be "quiet and sit down," he strode to the supper table, where a hot meal awaited his arrival. He gulped down the deadly poison and staggered into an adjoining room, where he died before medical aid could be summoned.

The double slaying, closing the lips of the only two who knew the reason for the crime, forever sealed the real facts of the tragedy in mystery. Mrs. Knowles never spoke after she screamed at her companion who flashed a razor suddenly and slashed her throat. Leach died without answering the pleadings of his aged mother to tell her of the crime.

Two Witnesses Present.

H. A. Dale, of 401 Briarcliff road, and M. C. Livingston, of 389 Briarcliff road, witnessed the death struggle of the young woman and her companion. EVOLUTION CASE TAKES NEW ANGLE

Nashville, Tenn., May 12.—(F.)

Containing references to hundreds of court decisions and authorities, the reply brief and argument for the state in the evolution case, filed with the supreme court last Saturday, and withheld from publication by state counsel until today, claimed that the Tennessee anti-evolution act was legislation regulating the public schools, "in respect of which the state practically has a free hand."

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR GRAY VETERAN

Funeral services for W. H. Osburn, 84, Confederate veteran, who died Monday night at the Soldiers' home, were held Wednesday morning from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Rev. J. M. Sparks officiated and interment was in West View cemetery.

Mr. Osburn had been in ill health for the past several months. His death takes one of the best loved inmates of the Soldiers' home, where he had spent the last nine years of his life. He was a lieutenant in Company F of the First Georgia regiment during the war between the states, and was said to be one of the two survivors of the Gate City Guard.

Soon after the war was over Mr. Osburn entered business in Atlanta. He was a former member of the Atlanta police department many years before his advanced age forced him from active life.

Mr. Osburn is survived by one son, H. L. Osburn, of Dunedin, Fla., and one sister, Mrs. G. L. Carey, of Atlanta.

Crenshaw-Winship Wedding Is Marked by Beauty and Dignity

With a ceremony characterized by dignity and impressive beauty at the First Methodist church Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock Miss Juliet Letch Crenshaw became the bride of Charles Thiot Winship, the Rev. Samuel T. Senter, pastor of the church, being the officiant. The marriage, which is of wide social interest throughout the south, united two of the city's most prominent and cultured families.

During the assembling of the guests, which included a large number of Atlanta society, a beautiful musical program consisting of classic selections and adaptations of popular love songs was rendered by Mrs. W. H. L. Nelms, church organist.

Church Decorations.

The church presented a scene of springtime beauty with its decorations of rich palms, ferns and multi-colored flowers. Both the organ loft and the pulpit were banked with tropical greenery, a large group centering the pulpit and flanked by a tall slender arrangement at either end of the ballustrade. Rising out of the central group were three massive brass candelabra holding tall white burning tapers, which formed a background for a graceful white floor basket filled with pastel-shaded roses, snapdragons, peonies, hydrangeas and lilies. Single candelabra centered the side banks of palms, the base being concealed with a low arrangement of the same blossoms. Garlands of southern smilax formed a delicate tracery over the crystal shades of the side lights in the pulpit. White crash carpeted all aisles of the church and the pews reserved for the families were marked by tall clusters of fragrant Easter lilies and white peonies.

To the first strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the ushers, who were William Gilmer Perry, William Vernon Skiles, Joseph Winship, and Charles B. Winship, entered and took their places at the altar. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Mary Cabaniss Crenshaw, only sister of the bride. She was an attractive figure wearing a becoming model of peach and green tulle, fashioned along bouffant lines with a tight basque waist. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, pastel shaded sweet peas, and lilies of the valley completed the lovely costume.

Beautiful Bride.

The charming young bride, a beauty of the brunette type, entered with her father, Dr. John Bascom Crenshaw, who gave her in marriage. She formed a picture of radiant loveliness in her bridal robes of cream-colored tulle, elaborately beaded in rose design with tiny seed pearls. The gown was fashioned as a robe de style with the pearl design forming a finish to the lower edge of the full skirt. The train of satin edged with a border of tulle, was attached at the shoulders, a veil of rare rose point lace caught to her dark hair by a coronet of orange blossoms, and falling in graceful folds the entire length of the train. The bride's only ornament was a handsome barpin of platinum, studded with diamonds, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white orchids showered with valley lilies and narrow white satin ribbons.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, George Winship, who acted as best man.

Informal Reception.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's bridal march. Following the marriage Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, father of the bride, entertained at a reception at the Georgian Terrace hotel. The guests were received in the palm room of the hotel, which was elaborately decorated for the occasion with quantities of vari-colored spring flowers attractively arranged in tall floor standards.

Receiving with Dr. Crenshaw and the bride and groom was Mrs. Elizabeth Winship, mother of the groom. The receiving party stood at the Ponce de Leon entrance to the palm room.

room before a background of palms studded with roses, peonies and Easter lilies.

Punch was served from large crystal bowls embedded in mounds of vari-colored sweet peas, snapdragons, and lilies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Winship, mother of the groom, was handsomely gowned in black chiffon embroidered with silver and rhinestones. A shoulder spray of orchids and valley lilies completed her costume.

Mrs. George Winship's gown was of black Elizabeth crepe, grided with satin ribbons of apricot color. Her flowers were orchids arranged as a shoulder bouquet.

Mrs. Joseph Winship was attractively gowned in pale green chiffon combined with lace.

Wedding Journey.

Following the reception Mr. Winship and his bride left for New York, from where they will sail Saturday for an extended journey to Europe. On their return to Atlanta next November they will make their home in the Ponce de Leon apartments. The bride wore a smart traveling costume of navy blue broadcloth, fashioned from the wedding gown of her mother, the late Mrs. John Bascom Crenshaw. Her hat was a becoming, close fitting model of dark blue grosgrain silk.

Training School Officers To Give Dinner at Ansley.

The 20 officers from Savannah and one from Waynesboro attending the periodic training school at Camp Jessup will give a dinner at 7 o'clock Thursday night at the Ansley hotel, having as their guests, Major General Hagood, fourth army corps area; General Williams, 30th division; General Letch, Fort McPherson; Adjutant General Charles Cox, Colonel Kimbrough, federal instructor, and Major McCollum, government property and disbursement officer. Captain Carl W. Robinson and Lieutenant J. A. Gallagher compose the program committee announced by Major T. J. Thorne.

The school, attended by officers from all over the state, will be divided into branches beginning tomorrow. The sessions have been held in the mornings and afternoons and the same plan likely will continue to be followed. The school will close Friday. Many of the Savannah officers, however, will stay over in Atlanta for the week-end.

Brigadier General Travis and Adjutant General Kimbrough, both members of the apparently excellent results achieved so far by technical and other military talks delivered at the camp. The attendance and attention of the officers and thorough interest taken was most gratifying, they state.

Colonel Kimbrough and General Williams also spoke.

General Cox made an earnest plea for the cooperation of the officers in the stirring up of feeling leading toward more funds for the military activities of the states as far as the national guard was concerned. This state now has 3,800 national guardsmen, more than any other state in the fourth corps area, yet has the smallest appropriation from its legislature.

Miss Phippen and Rev. Shingler Wed at Ceremony in Decatur

The marriage of Miss Lucille Woolley Phippen to the Rev. John Monroe Shingler, of Decatur, Ga., which took place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church in Decatur, was marked by exquisite beauty and dignity.

Miss Anna Harwell, violinist, and Miss Elliott May McLellan, pianist, rendered the nuptial music. Miss Annie Johnson sang "Because."

The ceremony was performed by Dr. A. J. Moncrief in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns and the bride party stood in front of an improvised altar of palms and ferns, interspersed with cathedral candelabra holding burning tapers.

Bridal Party.

The ushers, the Rev. Adiel J. Moncrief, Jr., and Warner W. Hall, entered first, one down each aisle. Miss Imogene Allan and Mrs. Allan McLellan, the bridesmaids, entered next.

Mrs. Allan wore peach-colored tulle, fashioned with a tight bodice and full skirt. She carried pastel-shaded sweet peas. Mrs. McLellan was gowned in yellow tulle, with tight bodice and full skirt. Her flowers were also pastel sweet peas.

The groomsmen, Dr. Glenn A. Duncan and the Rev. Edwin J. Grimes, entered singly. Miss Mildred Phippen, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore pink tulle with a tight bodice and full skirt. She carried Colombia roses, showered with swainsons.

Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride, entering with her father, James Lowndes Phippen, Jr., who gave her in marriage, was gowned in white satin crepe, trimmed in

Mrs. High Honored By Mrs. Charles Rice And Miss Mary Rice

Mrs. Charles F. Rice and Miss Mary Rice were hostesses Wednesday at a buffet luncheon at their home on Peachtree road, honoring Mrs. Joseph Madison High, founder and life president of the Georgia Society Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, who leaves soon for an extended European tour. Invited to meet her were the members of the organization.

Mrs. Dannie R. Petest and Miss Marjor McMillan served punch in the sun parlor.

Mrs. Rice wore a gown of beige lace over satin and Miss Mary Rice wore pink georgette trimmed in lace. Mrs. High was gowned in black satin and lace.

The first general court of Founders and Patriots of America convened in Washington, D. C. May 13, 1890, the day being selected in order to commemorate the landing at Jamestown.

On April 6, 1920, the Oglethorpe chapter, Georgia Society Daughters of Founders and Patriots, was organized by Mrs. High with 25 charter members. The present enrollment is 35 showing interest and substantial growth.

Mrs. High, state president, presided during the business meeting.

Mrs. Elmer R. Kirk, chosen delegate to the general court of Founders and Patriots of America at Washington, D. C., April 14 and 15, made an interesting report. Mrs. John Laidlaw Buel, of Litchfield, Conn., was unanimously elected national president to succeed Mrs. Charles D. Ward, of New York. Reports of national officers showed the society to be growing and in fine condition. The second floor of a house at 10 Jackson place, Washington, D. C., is to be the permanent home of the national officers.

Miss Hazel Kirk was honored by being appointed one of the pages at the general court.

The program was devoted to development, history, romance and sentiment of the first two of the "Original Thirteen" colonies, Virginia and Massachusetts.

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful

Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seventeen years old I had to stay at home from school. I finally had to quit school. I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up one of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirteen years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. Frank Sellers, 510 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

Miss Morgan Weds Mr. Lucy, Jr., at Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Marion Elizabeth Morgan and Thomas Ernest Lucy, Jr., took place Wednesday afternoon, May 12, at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's father. Mr. James Pearson Morgan, on Ponce de Leon avenue. Rev. W. H. Barrett performed the ceremony in the presence of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Edward Durham, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Charles Tarlton and Mrs. V. A. Taylor, played a selection of nuptial music, and preceding the entrance of the bride party Miss Mae Everett sang "At Dawning." During the ceremony "I Love You Truly" was rendered. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played for the processional.

Palms, foliage plants and flowers decorated the house and in the reception hall silver bowls and baskets of Dresden shaded blossoms adorned the console and tables with stately palms flanking the sides of the walls. Stately palms formed a background for the improvised altar, and for the pedestal vases of white roses and candelabra holding white tapers.

Bridal Party.
Miss Margaret Bostwick wore a gown of pale green georgette over tulle with a light bodice and a wide flowing circular skirt.

Miss Betty Stribling's gown was of peach georgette over tulle of the same fashion. They carried arm bouquets of Ophelia roses, tied with bows of tulle to match their dresses, and were charming bridesmaids.

Mrs. Homer Taylor Powers, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of powder blue georgette hand-painted with roses. Her lovely shower bouquet was of pink roses and sweet peas tied with a soft airy bow of pink tulle and showered with valley lilies.

Misses Mary Louise Galphin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Galphin, and niece of the bride, and Dorothy Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, were flower girls. They wore dainty frocks of rose and yellow ruffled georgette. They carried French baskets of roses and sweet peas tied with bows of green tulle.

Beautiful Bride.
The bride entered with her father, James Pearson Morgan, by whom she was given in marriage, and was radiantly beautiful in her bridal robe of white georgette over satin richly embroidered in pearls. It was fashioned in a style with a round neck line and a graceful flowing even hem line. Her veil was confined to her soft hair with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her slippers of white satin were decorated with sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses tied with a white satin French bow knot and showered with valley lilies and white satin ribbon streamers.

Alfred E. Lucy, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Immediately following the marriage Mr. Morgan entertained at an informal reception, and was assisted in entertaining by his daughter, Mrs. T. H. Galphin, and Mrs. B. T. Powers, of New Orleans, La. Miss Jane Clarke kept the bride's register. Mrs. T. E. Lucy, the groom's mother, wore a gown of grey georgette, with a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. T. E. Galphin was gowned in shades of roses chiffon, with a corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. A. E. Lucy wore a bois de rose crepe model with a corsage of orchids.

Miss Mary Everett's gown was of yellow chiffon with a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucy will make their home with Mrs. Lucy's father at his home on Ponce de Leon avenue where they return from their wedding journey.

Violin Pupils To Give Recital.

A number of violin pupils from the studio of Miss Mary Douglas will be heard in a recital this evening at 8 o'clock at Steinway hall, Phillips and Crew company, Peachtree street. Delightful Affairs Planned by Members Of Army Contingent

Many delightful affairs are planned among the members of the army contingent this week. A very interesting event will be the tea-dance at the Officers' club this afternoon, between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock when the members of the club will be hosts to the officers of the 122nd Infantry, Georgia national guard.

Mrs. Keely To Be Hostess. Another affair for this afternoon will be the entertainment of the "Sewing club" by Mrs. Harry J. Keely, who will be hostess at her quarters at Fort McPherson. Her honor guests at this time will be Mrs. Charles Caffrey, of Fort Benning, wife of Major Caffrey, and Mrs. Jesse Traywick, who before her recent marriage was Miss Mona Dudley, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Lynch To Be Honored. On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. T. S. Arms and Mrs. R. T. Taylor will be joint hostesses at a shower at the home of Mrs. Arms, 22 Rosedale road, in honor of Mrs. G. T. Lynch, who before her recent marriage was Mrs. Dorothy Meyer Hones, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Orlando Meyer, Lieutenant and Mrs. Lynch are making their home at Fort McPherson.

spent three months taking a special course in voice.

Charles Bower, his daughter, Miss Martha Bower and sisters, Misses Elsie and Nellie Bower, have taken possession of their new home on Juniper street.

Miss Sue Steiner Hook is visiting in August.

Miss Luie Sergeant will spend a part of the summer visiting her sister, Mrs. Fountain Rice, in Spring Hill, Tenn.

Third Spring Flower Show Sponsored by Garden Club

The third spring flower show of the Peachtree Garden club will be held Thursday afternoon, May 20, at the Piedmont Driving club at 3 o'clock. The exhibits must be entered by 12 o'clock noon, as later than that they will not be received for competition.

Mrs. William H. Kiser, chairman of the flower show committee, announces the following classes:

A. Best collection of garden flowers (not more than three of each kind exhibited). Separate tables for each exhibitor and receptacles furnished by club. Number of varieties entered will count 50 per cent. Quality of entries will count 50 per cent.

B. Best perennial in show.

C. Best annual in show.

D. Best perennial raised from seed without professional assistance.

E. Best novelty.

F. Best exhibit of flowering shrubs.

G. Best flowering shrub in show.

H. Arrangement of roses. Exhibitor to furnish receptacles.

I. Arrangement of iris. Exhibitor to furnish receptacles.

J. Arrangement of peonies. Exhibitor to furnish receptacles. (In judging classes H, I and J, arrangement and proportion will count 50 per cent, quality of flowers 30 per cent, receptacles 20 per cent.)

K. Arrangement of any flowers—no restrictions. Color 30 per cent, arrangement 30 per cent, originality 20 per cent, receptacles 20 per cent.

L. Simple luncheon table set for not more than six plates. Everything to be furnished by the exhibitor except the table, which is furnished by the club. No flat silver to be used. In judging this class flowers will count 25 per cent, arrangement 30 per cent, originality 25 per cent, necessities 20 per cent.

M. Sweepstakes prize for best exhibit in show, every class included.

Three different entries of any flower will constitute a class. There will be classes for roses, peonies, iris, aquilegia, etc. Three flower-ers to be shown by each entrant in these classes.

All exhibits with the exception of classes H, I, J and K, must be clearly marked with (a) name of exhibitor, (b) botanical and common name of flower, (c) class.

Except in classes H, I, J and K, receptacles will be furnished by club.

Flowers exhibited in class A cannot compete in other classes. Separate entries must be made for each class.

The committee requests that receptacles be called for immediately after the show. The committee takes no responsibility for them.

Judges will be selected and announced by the committee.

All flowers exhibited to be raised by exhibitor.

Miss Farmer's Pupils In Recital Friday.

Miss Anna Mae Farmer is giving a series of nine public recitals this season, the sixth of which will be given in Phillips & Crew hall, Peachtree street, Friday evening, May 14, at 8 o'clock by members from the first and second grade piano class, including Misses Amaryllis Pickett, Alice Furth, Alice Taylor, Elsie Nix, Nell Echols, Martha Herren, Mae Tom Haynes, Charlotte Tomlinson, Joanna Wood, Geraldine Robertson, Lucell Jenkins, Miriam Jones, Dorothy McDonald and Reginald Ward, Robert Taylor.

In teaching along progressive lines Miss Farmer is endeavoring to introduce an idea that will alleviate the much-talked-of nervousness of pupils when playing in public, and will therefore be assisted by the Orpheus Band of Mercer, having these students sing three familiar songs in which the audience will join, thereby producing a spirit of harmony and mutual interest on the part of both participants and listeners. An invitation is extended to patrons and interested friends to attend this musicale.

Lovely Bridge Supper Assembles Army Set At Fort McPherson

Among the interesting social affairs of Wednesday evening which assembled the members of the army contingent was the lovely bridge-supper at which Captain and Mrs. Samuel C. Harrison entertained at their quarters at Fort McPherson.

ARE WOMEN good sports? Men say they are not.

A man will put his whole energy into a tennis game. When he loses, he walks off the court smiling, and 10 minutes later he will have forgotten his defeat. He will show his humor in a horse show and concede, when his entry does not get the blue ribbon, that the best horse won.

More than that, he has a fist fight with another man, and gets whipped. Does he stay mad? On the contrary, admiration for his opponent's muscle is apt to extend into lasting admiration and friendship for the victor himself.

Now a woman may have courage, fairness, sweet temper, while she wields a wicked racket or golf club, but, defeated in a tournament, it goes against the grain to congratulate her opponent. She smiles only to escape that traditional charge that she is not a good sport.

Is she? Well, Emily Newell Blair throws considerable illumination on this question in the current Harper's Magazine.

She is writing on "Men in Politics—As Women See Them." And why shouldn't she, when she has for six years been vice chairman of the national democratic committee and knows the best and the worst of the men of her party? This, moreover, means just men. For who will seriously contend that democrats and republicans are really different under the skin?

Men from the beginning, says Mrs. Blair, have achieved their ends, have

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WANTED TO GO TO WAR AT ONCE TO AVENGE THIS CROWNING INSULT, AND ADAMS SHORE HE WOULD NEVER SEND ANOTHER MINISTER TO FRANCE UNLESS ASSURED OF HIS PROPER RECEPTION.

WITH THE RISING OF THE WAR SPIRIT ALL RELATIONS WITH FRANCE WERE CUT OFF. THE TREATY OF 1778 DECLARED VOID, AND CONGRESS PLANNED THE RAISING OF AN ARMY TO BE LED BY THE VETERAN WASHINGTON, WHO HAD RETIRED TO MT. VERNON.

IN 1797, THE FRIGATES "CONSTITUTION," "CONSTELLATION" AND "UNITED STATES" WERE LAUNCHED. A SEPARATE DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY WAS CREATED BY CONGRESS, WHICH MARKED THE BEGINNING OF OUR MODERN NAVY.

WHY SHE RAN. EDUCATIONAL PROPAGANDA had made Alabama people, quite a few of them, see the need for a child welfare program under a state board managed by experts, but experts have to live. Some special effort had to be put forward, therefore, to get the general assembly to understand that

WILL SHE GET THE HABIT? ALABAMA is still without sufficient appropriation to meet her child welfare needs. And, so, perhaps the woman member of what ever county Selma is in may run to succeed herself. I did not ask the direct question. But I did notice that she is keeping herself well posted about tax laws and such erudite matters, although she was quite frank to admit that she does not know it all.

COMBINATION IS POSSIBLE. MRS. WILKINS is feminine to her finger tips as far as I could judge from a Sunday chat on a country club porch. Although, to be quite fair, I have not seen her in action in a political campaign.

On the other hand, she is gently and firmly feminine when she expresses herself on the subject, say, of the future of women in politics.

MRS. WILKINS AND MRS. BLAIR. "FOR MANY YEARS 'best minds' have taken very little actual part in government," she said. "When they do, they are exceptional cases. There has been some excuse for men. Business is exciting; competition is great; and neither is slacking up. 'But 'best minds' among the women will not have the same excuse. Their traditional household cares are marvellously lessened for them, and, too, the most valuable women in public life are those women who are mature enough in years to imply that their children no longer need their constant supervision."

"I am not at all pessimistic about the apparent slowness of women to enter public life. They are growing more and more interested, better and better posted about public movements. And because they are so informing themselves, they believe that when they do take the plunge into political activity, it will be, like my own case, to put through projects which cry to heaven because they are powerful, not for their own glorification, but for what they can accomplish with it."

Mrs. Blair is more militant. "Man is a fighting animal," she writes, "and he has organized politics in his own image. Whether politics will make women into a fighting animal or whether women will make politics into a club—that remains to be seen." Does she mean that for a threat or a promise?

members of the college set assembled at the Druid Hills Golf Club Wednesday evening for the formal dance at which the Sigma and Omega chapters of the K. D. K. Fraternity and the University and Tech High schools entertained.

The fraternity colors were effectively carried out in the beautiful decorations of the hall, the emblem of the fraternity emblazoned at the far end of the room. An orchestra furnished music for the dancing throughout the evening and at 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served. Delicious Combination Easy to Make Mixed Pineapple and Strawberry Jam

If you want to add a delightful "surprise" to your store of jams and jellies this year—a really delicious treat—make some mixed strawberry and pineapple jam by this simple, easy recipe.

No finer blend of flavors can be imagined than that of the delicately luscious strawberry with the refreshing tartness of ripe, juicy pineapple. Many women like this recipe, too, for its economy, since the pineapple makes your strawberries go so much further.

Crush to a fine pulp about 1 quart ripe berries. Put pineapple through food chopper, or chop very fine. (Canned crushed pineapple may be used.) Measure 2 level cups of each fruit into large kettle. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in 1/2 cup Certo. Skim, pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with hot melted paraffin.

With such delicately flavored fruits as pineapple and strawberries the advantages of the Certo method are especially noticeable. For not only do these difficult fruits jelly perfectly every time, but the short boil, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of fresh flavor and color which occurs during long boiling.

A book of simple tested recipes comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postpaid) and get a trial size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 1835 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y. (447.)

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

Copyrighted 1924 by F. O. Beauty Posture

A Unique Soap Created by experts for one purpose only—to safeguard your complexion

That's why, on expert advice, thousands are gaining the charm of natural loveliness through this simple daily rule in skin care.

THERE are many places where experiment is safe. But not with the complexion. To endanger one's pretty skin is a folly.

Before Palmolive came women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty soap. A soap made by experts in skin care for one purpose only—to guard youth and charm. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

It changed the beauty situation throughout the world. It supplanted artificial beauty methods by the score. World's authorities widely urge it. The thousands of pretty skins you see today are largely due to it.

Wash, launder, scrub, with any soap you wish; but when beauty is at stake, take care.

This simple daily rule to natural skin beauty

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

SYNOPSIS.
Jim Parke, Hudson Bay company agent at Moose Lake, is greatly disturbed by a news item in an English paper announcing the marriage of Alastair Somers-Panton to Ellen Grant and referring to the prospective bridegroom as the heir presumptive to Lord Oban, whose only son, John Bridgforth Panton, disappeared some years before and whose death is about to be presumed by law. Parke decides to go back to England, and leaves Moose Lake for Edmonton, accompanied by his dog.

INSTALLMENT IV.

So it came to pass that the biped was more surprised than the quadruped when they entered Edmonton. Panton, as he may be known henceforth, had not seen the place for five years, and in that time even the outskirts of a fine city had passed from the corrugated iron to the chiselled stone age. He did not recognize the very offices of the great company he served. Where once had been huts now stood mansions. If this were the ratio of progress throughout the province, then Moose Lake might soon boast a hydro and golf links.

Thus far Panton had met with no vexatious delays and no real official drawbacks. It was rather bewildering, therefore, to find that no one knew him, that the resident manager on whose help he had counted was far away at Ottawa engaged in some parliamentary business, and that an underling who condescended to listen for a minute had no counsel to offer save a negative one.

"There's no sense in any fellow blowing in here and saying he is James B. Parke, of Moose Lake," explained the wisecrack. "You've got to be franked by the subagent at Athabasca. When he O. K.'s you we'll look into your business. Till then there's nothing doing."

Argument was useless. Panton, alias Parke, went out and consulted Spot on the sidewalk.

"We're up against it, pup," he said. "The fact is, neither of us looks altogether respectable. That coat of yours needs clipping, and my canvas suit is just about as convincing as striped stockings and a jacket stamped with broad arrows would be in Piccadilly. We haven't much in the kitty, but we've got to change our rip."

Spot wagged his tail. He liked to be talked to. Whatever master said was right, and he signified the same in the approved way. An hour later, the Hon. John Bridgforth Panton was more like his real self, though his stock of ready cash was reduced to a few dollars. At Moose Lake he had no use whatever for printed or minted money. All transactions were in kind. He had even forgotten what salary the appointment carried.

Once more he returned to the company's headquarters. This time he was received less doubtfully, but again met the blank wall of negation. Then he bethought him of the power of the press, and sought a newspaper office. Here was a different atmosphere. A news editor scented a first rate story, and put the stranger into the hands of an interviewer. Not many minutes had elapsed before a lively message was on its way to a news agency.

"We're starting something today," said the journalist gleefully. Never was prophet more justified! Never did prophet realize less accurately the ultimate effect of any paragraph distributed throughout the English-speaking world!

"And now," went on the scribe, "I'll run you out in my car to see Leslie, who is deputizing for Forbes. It'll be a treat to watch his face when he hears your story. But he's a hard-headed Scot, you know. Have you any proof of your identity?"

"Which identity—that of Moose Lake or of Inverlochitrie?"

"Well, both."

"As to Moose Lake there must be scores of statements and vouchers here in my handwriting. Straight off I can name twenty. The other part of the affair—my heirship to the barony of Oban and to my aunt's legacy—cannot be determined here. But, if photography is to be relied on, you can see who I am not only from the picture in the newspaper but from my likeness to Lord Oban."

"Your father?"

"Well, yes. If he were not my father there could be nothing in my claim."

It was a peculiar answer, but the newspaper man had sensed a mystery already.

"This lawyer, Mr. Harvey, K. C., hints at a family dispute," he said. "Do you care to say anything about that?"

"No."

"Just 'No'—full stop?"

"That's it."

"Well, well. By the way, that's a fine dog of yours. You're not taking him with you, I suppose?"

"I am."

"But, you can't. He'll be put in quarantine for six months in England."

"He and I will jump that fence when we reach it, won't we, pup?"

"Spot smiled. 'Watch me!' he said, in effect."

"I'd give money for that dog," said the other.

"He's not for sale. He has been my constant friend, day and night, for three years. I don't know how many times he has saved my life. You wouldn't like to put a price on a pal of that sort, would you?"

"Well, no. Let's hit the pike for Leslie."

It was quite amusing to see how Spot adapted himself to a car. He sat in the back seat with as fine an air as any pampered Pomeranian who is whirled daily through Hyde Park or the Bois. He had already seen other dogs doing it, and there was nothing which any other dog could do that Spot could not do a great deal better. Being modest without, he would not claim to be a superdog. The fact was that life at Moose Lake demanded the exercise of certain qualities or one did not live. And that, as they say in the northwest, was all there was to it.

Panton's new friend was peculiarly useful. Few other citizens of Edmonton that evening could have brought him straight into the presence of the temporary head of the Hudson Bay company.

The great man was going out. He was in evening dress, and his daughter, a very pretty girl of twenty, was with him when the visitors were announced. In the conditions Spot was ordered to remain in the car, guarding a parcel which contains Panton's canvas suit, knee boots and other more intimate garments which he had discarded.

Mr. Leslie was cautious, though obviously impressed from the outset. "Inverlochitrie?" he said, with apparent irrelevance, when the newspaper was displayed. "Just where is Inverlochitrie?"

"Ten miles north of Mallag," said Panton eagerly. "You reach it by boat or coach, unless you use your own car. It's about as inaccessible as any place on the west coast of Scotland."

"Ay. I mind it well."

"You see, Mr. Panton," he continued, "you come here with an extraordinary story. It is my duty to check it to the best of my ability. Of course, in the office tomorrow it will be a simple matter to determine whether you are the James B. Parke who has represented the company at Moose Lake. I do not deny that I have heard of you already. Any man who elects voluntarily to remain in such a post without relief for five years is by way of being a bit of a celebrity, shall I say? But it is an altogether different matter when you claim to be the missing heir to the barony of Oban. Why did you change your name? Did you come out here under a false passport? How will you satisfy the authorities in either eastern Canada or the United States that you are genuinely entitled to the issue of a new passport? Why have you allowed this long period to elapse before you took steps to regularize your position? These are first questions that occur to me. There must surely be many others, all equally difficult to set aside, even granted satisfactory answers."

Loew's Grand

In both the vaudeville and picture phases of the program at Loew's Grand theater this week fun is the predominant note. Three of the vaudeville acts are crowded with laughs, while "Skinner's Dress Suit," the Loew feature picture, is a comedy screen from start to finish. Ben Marks and company in "Apples," a miniature musical comedy, is the vaudeville headliner. Six pretty girls and two other comedians aid Marks in this clever little act, which was written by Herman Timberg.

Keith's Forsyth

One of the south's most famous musical organizations is scheduled to head the vaudeville attractions at Keith's Forsyth theater the last half of this week on the bill beginning Thursday. BANKRUPT SALE

H. W. CAMP COMPANY

Stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Hardware, Stationery, Farm Supply, etc., etc. Pursuant to an order passed by the Honorable U. S. District Court, Southern District of Georgia, in Case No. 10,234, the stock of H. W. Camp Company, Georgia, at the place hereinafter designated on the 10th day of May, 1934, at 10 o'clock a. m., will be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

1. Stock of goods belonging to said bankrupt corporation consisting of dry goods, furnishings, groceries, hardware, etc., and such other goods as are carried by a general store, said stock is valued at $10,000.00. This stock of goods is subject to inspection at the storehouse of H. W. Camp Company, Moreland, Georgia, at all times prior to the sale.

2. All fixtures of H. W. Camp Company, bankrupt, located in their storehouse at Moreland, Georgia, consisting of show cases, refrigerator, heater, racks, etc., are subject to sale. The fixtures are to be sold as a unit and are to be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

3. Two hundred fifty (250) bushels of beans, about thirty (30) bundles of cotton baling twine, located in the storehouse of H. W. Camp Company, Moreland, Georgia, are subject to inspection.

4. Upon accounts, face value $81,254.41; promissory notes, face value $10,323.78. All the above described personal property will be sold at the storehouse of H. W. Camp Company, Moreland, Georgia, at public sale, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the time above stated.

5. All farm tools and equipment, consisting of wagons, plows, planters, distributors, etc., located on that farm known as the Fry Farm, about one and one-half miles west of Moreland, Georgia.

6. Also twelve mules and one horse, ten head of hogs, seven cows, all located on said Fry farm.

7. Also two hundred bushels of corn located on said Fry farm.

8. This property located on said Fry farm will be sold on the premises immediately after the sale of the property described in the first four items.

9. Also, all farm tools and equipment, consisting of wagons, plows, planters, distributors, etc., located on that farm known as the Bingham farm, about one and one-half miles southeast of Moreland, Georgia.

10. Also eight mules, one horse, seven cows, thirty-seven head of hogs, all located on said Bingham farm.

11. This property will be sold upon the premises immediately after the sale of the property on the Fry farm.

12. At the same time and place and at the storehouse of H. W. Camp Company, Moreland, Georgia, we will offer for sale the following described parcels of land:

(a) Lot of land in the town of Moreland, Georgia, containing one (1) acre, more or less, on the west side of the Atlanta & West Point Railroad, together with potato curing house located thereon and approximately ten thousand potato culls.

(b) Also, forty-five (45) acres of land in the Tenth District, Meriwether County, Georgia.

(c) Also, ninety-five (95) acres of land lying in lots No. 153 and No. 154 of the Second Land District of Cobb County, Georgia, bounded on the north by E. P. Floyd and Henry L. Camp, on east by J. W. Turner and Henry L. Camp, on south by J. C. Curston, et al., on west by I. B. Murphy.

All the above described property will be for sale subject to confirmation of the court.

For further information or inspection of the stock call on the undersigned at Newnan, Georgia, or at the storehouse of H. W. Camp Company, Moreland, Georgia.

Loew's Grand

In both the vaudeville and picture phases of the program at Loew's Grand theater this week fun is the predominant note. Three of the vaudeville acts are crowded with laughs, while "Skinner's Dress Suit," the Loew feature picture, is a comedy screen from start to finish. Ben Marks and company in "Apples," a miniature musical comedy, is the vaudeville headliner. Six pretty girls and two other comedians aid Marks in this clever little act, which was written by Herman Timberg.

Keith's Forsyth

One of the south's most famous musical organizations is scheduled to head the vaudeville attractions at Keith's Forsyth theater the last half of this week on the bill beginning Thursday. It is the Texas Four, well known all over southern theaters. The quartet is from the Lone Star State, and besides good voices the members are excellent humorists. A
